SIR JOHN IN ENGLNND.

Premier Abbott and Mr. Foster Reported Safe at Moville en Route to London.

A New Theory Advanced Upon the Mysterious Luckey Murders in Kitley Township.

Russian and Austrian Troops Come to Blows About Some Polish Emigrants.

TORONTO, Oct. 18.—The following special cable appeared in the Globe from London:—The Parisian with Sir John Abbott and Mr. Foster aboard reached Moville to-day, and are expected at Liverpool early to-morrow morning. The Ministers will come to London forthwith.

The Luckey Murder.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 18.—A dispatch from Smith's Falls, Ont., gives a theory which is now being freely discussed there in regard to the recent tragedy in Kitley township. It is that Mr. Luckey, being a close man, and always keeping a large sum in his house, discovered on his return home last Saturday that he had been robbed. The person entered the house during his absence took everything he could find. That the old man discovered his loss and accused his wife of the theft. As he was known to keep everything under lock and key and never to give her money, and that during a fit of passion he struck her down; that the daughter entered the house shortly afterwards, and seeing what had taken place also became a subject of the old man's anger, and was also killed. That he set fire to his own house and committed suicide. The despatch adds: Those who appear best acquainted with the old man Luckey say that the affair may have happened in that way, and that by a strange coincidence it all happened on the very day the son arrived in the locality from the Central Prison. So far there is no direct evidence to incriminate the prisoner, and while all the circumstances point to his being the guilty person, there is not enough evidence in his defence to account for his strange actions during the eventful Saturday."

The Briggs Heresy Case.

ALBANY, N.Y., Oct. 18.—The synod of New York of the Presbyterian church assembled here to-day. The only business of national importance that is likely to claim its attention is the appeal by the friends of Dr. Briggs from a decision of the Presbytery that the committee of prosecution is an original party, and has a right to carry the case through all the ecclesiastical courts. Should the synod decide that the committee of prosecution is but a creature of the presbytery and has no authority to act without the authority of that body, it will be necessary for the committee to defend its own existence by appealing to the general assembly. It is contended, however, by the opponents of Prof. Briggs that as the general assembly has recognized the committee the appeal is of no moment.

Chicago's Great Day.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Everything is in readiness at the hotels for the reception of the distinguished guests who will begin to pour in this evening. The Turkish commissioners Haaki Bey and Fahri Bey, with Hon. Arthur Rennick, the executive commissioner from Australia, are the first on the ground, having arrived this morning. They are quartered at the Auditorium. Gov. H. H. Markham and staff will arrive from San Francisco this afternoon. Down at the World's Fair grounds a small army of employees is giving the finishing touches to the arrangements for receiving and treating the one hundred and fifty thousand guests expected to witness the ceremonies of Friday. The celebration opens to-morrow with appropriate exercises in the public schools.

Killed by Lightning.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Oct. 18.—During a heavy storm accompanied by terrific thunder and lightning, Charles Schulke, of Green Lake, told his two daughters to remain in the house and he would go out and drive the sheep into the yard. When in the act of driving them into the yard he was struck by lightning and instantly killed. No trace of the deadly work was visible on the body, but his head was singed and a small hole was found in his hat.

The Russians Aggressors.

VIENNA, Oct. 18.—An encounter is reported between Austrian and Russian troops on the Galician frontier, in which one of the former was killed and several wounded. The trouble arose over the action of the Russians, who endeavored to force some Polish emigrants into Austrian territory.

Made his Adieux.

OTTAWA, Oct. 18.—Hon. E. Dewdney bade farewell to the Interior Department and the Department of Indian Affairs yesterday.

VANCOUVER VERITIES.

Seamen Suing For Wages—A Defeated By-Law to be Submitted Again.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 18.—The Norwegian bark Benjamin Bangs will load at Hastings mill for Montreal, taking several pieces of timber too large to be sent by rail.

H. M. S. Daphne arrived this morning.

Capt. Copp, of the Vancouver Belle, has applied for a writ of certiorari against the decision of the court awarding the crew their wages to the date of seizure.

Two sailors of the Coquitlam will sue for wages up to the date of the vessel's return to Vancouver, though they were brought down from Sitka shortly after the seizure. Others on Saturday accepted payment to the date of seizure.

The Garrick Amateur Dramatic Club will open the season with two short plays on Saturday evening.

The Westminster tram car yesterday struck a large bear just outside of the city limits.

The council last night took the first steps to resubmit the railway bonus by-law. Should that be passed that of September 24th would be declared illegal.

Capt. McLellan left for Victoria to attend the Coquitlam inquiry; and Health Inspector Huntly, the smallpox commission.

The police committee this morning voted $100 for the police secret service.

Though a sum is in the provincial estimates for the North Arm road, past the cemetery, none of it has been spent, and the city council will petition the Government to have it made passable at once.

WESTMINSTER WIRINGS.

A Market Wharf Established—Holy Trinity Church Made a Cathedral.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 18.—The city is at last waking up to its interests with the farmers, and have established a market wharf. At the council meeting last night Ald. Trapp, Curtis and T. Cunningham were appointed market commissioners for one year.

A nolle prosequi has been entered in the case of Maloney, charged with conspiracy to rob McNeely's safe at Ladner's.

Antonio Cario, for a brutal assault on the Mexican, Louis Cosman, has been sentenced to 16 months in jail.

On Sunday last Holy Trinity church was constituted a Cathedral by Bishop Sillitoe. Very little change has been made in the services.

ARGUED AT OTTAWA.

The Celebrated Appeal Case, Webster and Edmonds vs. Foley.

OTTAWA, Oct. 18.—In the Supreme Court to-day the case of Webster and Edmonds vs. Foley, on appeal from the British Columbia Supreme Court, was argued. Mr. Robert Cassidy, of Victoria, appeared for the appellants, and Mr. Ewart, of Winnipeg, for the respondent. The judgment from which the appeal is made, upheld a judgment for the respondent against the appellants for $6000 and costs, ordered by Justice McCreight. Action was brought by Foley, who sustained injuries while employed in the sawmills of Webster & Edmonds at Vancouver, B. C., to recover damages. The rights of the parties depend upon common law and the doctrine of negligence, there being no employers' liability act then in force in the province of British Columbia. Five justices were on the bench. Mr. Cassidy made a good argument for the appellants and was replied to by Mr. Ewart.

RELEASE OF THE SUSPECTS.

Nanaimo's Quarantine Station Depleted—Electric Works for Sale.

NANAIMO, Oct. 18.—Contrary to expectations all the suspects were released from quarantine yesterday, with the exception of Mrs. Greenaway, who recently gave birth to a son, and is not yet in a condition to be removed. All those released were furnished with a new suit of blue clothing, and appeared to be pleased with their new garments. They seemed to be a jolly crowd, and jested and received jokes with the best of humor as they passed through the city in wagons. They are loud in their praise of the health officers and for the good treatment they received while in quarantine.

At the meeting of the executive committee of St. Paul's Institute last evening, it was decided to hold entertainments in the hall every two weeks throughout the winter. Arrangements are also in progress to hold a chess tournament among the members of the Institute only, and as there are several players in the city no doubt it will prove a success. A high class entertainment will be given in the hall on Monday, Oct. 31st in aid of the general funds of St. Paul's church.

Diver Llewellyn and his assistants are endeavoring to find the break in the water pipes which furnish the supply to Protection Island. The work will probably occupy some days. The damage was done by the dredger dragging her anchor.

The Wellington mine, where the fire has been raging for some weeks, is now partly flooded, but it is claimed the water will have to rise at least another hundred feet in order to reach the fire. It will be February before the mine will be in working order. Double shifts are working in the other shafts.

It is reported the Bank of Montreal intends opening a branch in the Green Block. Their coming will be welcomed.

The electric light works will be put under the hammer on Saturday, without reserve, subject to the present incumbrances. The auction will take place at the works on Frazer street.

The Sinking of the Anglia.

The Anchor Line steamer Anglia, which left Calcutta on August 24, capsized in the river in the Jellingham channel, and out of a crew and a passenger list of 47, there are 15 missing; 32 were saved. There were only three passengers saved. It seems that at 4 p. m., just as the Anglia was about to let go her anchor, she touched ground, and as there was a strong current she turned over and sank in twenty seconds. Three seamen who were far back in the forcastle got their heads out of the port holes and called for help, but it was impossible to extricate them. The survivors were picked up by the boats of the British India steamer Goa and brought to Calcutta. At the time of the accident the vessel was in charge of Mr. Elson, a pilot of great experience and tried ability. The sands of the Jellingham channel are, however, subject to rapid changes and the channel is therefore very dangerous. The Anglia was a steel screw steamer of 3287 tons gross register, and was built in 1888 by Messrs. D. and W. Henderson of Glasgow. She had a large cargo of tea on board and was bound for London.

TRACING THE SMALLPOX.

Dr. Richardson Shows that Many Cases Resulted From a Visit to Vancouver.

Marsh Visited a Patient at Vancouver and Came Home on an Excursion Boat.

Cremation the Only Means of Killing the Smallpox Germs to a Certainty.

The first witnesses, called by the Royal Commission appointed to enquire into the origin and cause of the spread of smallpox, were examined this morning. The commissioners took their seats shortly after 11 o'clock. Deputy Attorney-General Smith examined the witnesses.

Dr. Richardson, resident physician of the Jubilee Hospital, was the first witness called. He took charge of the quarantine station in July. The first case of smallpox he saw in Victoria was in May. He had heard that there had been a case in March. The case he saw in May came to the hospital. He sent the patient down to the health office telling him to call at Dr. Helmcken's on the way. The disease was in its earlier stage. Two or three other patients came to the hospital and he sent them to the quarantine station. This was between the 10th and 14th of July. As far as he knew there were no cases between the 28th of May and the 10th of July. When he went to the quarantine hospital there were 10 or 12 patients. He took a list of the patients, with all the particulars of their cases and a statement as to whether the patients had been vaccinated or not. There are 94 cases on the list. There has been but one since the list was completed, the patient being an infant. In almost every case the character of the rash corroborated the patient's statements regarding the time they were taken sick. The disease can be traced to certain localities where it spread rapidly. There were a number of cases at the Clarence Hotel. They arrived at the quarantine station about the same time. There were two cases in houses adjoining the Clarence Hotel and the patients from the Clarence stated that they felt a disagreeable smell coming through their windows.

The witness gave the names of several patients who were taken sick at the Clarence who could give evidence as to this fact.

The doctor continuing said in this way he thought five of the Clarence cases could be traced to the next door, where Eckardt and Mr. Niles died. Mr. Niles employed two young women named Bull, who subsequently had smallpox. A sister of the Misses Bull called at Niles' house and subsequently had the smallpox and died. Thirteen patients died at the hospital. There are now but four cases left. He had no means of tracing Mr. Eckhardt's case, as he was delirious when he came to the hospital. One of the night messengers at the district telegraph office and a cabman who spent much time in the district telegraph office, evidently caught the disease from the night operator who resided at the Clarence. Therefore about a dozen cases could be traced through the Clarence to Eckhardt's case. He could trace other cases. Hon. Mr. Vernon and Mr. M. W. Waitt, both of whom had the disease, came from Vancouver on the same boat. They were sick at the same time. At that time there was a Foresters' excursion. There were some cases where the disease would take four weeks to incubate, while others incubated in five or six days. The average time seems to be about fourteen days. On the Foresters' excursion were Geo. Baker, S. M. Williams, S. H. Marsh, — Burrows, all of whom were sick afterwards, and Marsh told the witness that he had visited the girl who was sick with smallpox at Vancouver. The communication the men would have on the boat would circulate the disease, and Williams, Marsh and Burrows were companions. From Burrows he found the disease spreading rapidly. He went to his house on Pandora street, on the 26th of June. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Williams. Then one or two other cases came from the same house on Pandora street. Marsh and Burrows had been in Vancouver several days and they were intimately acquainted with the girl who was sick on Dupont street. The dates he had as to when the different cases broke out were liable to be incorrect.

The Chief Justice said the difference in time of the breaking out of the cases was like seeds, some come up sooner than others.

The witness, continuing, said he had had one case where a mother had the disease and a babe she was nursing did not take it for four weeks, although continually nursed. The case seemed to be associated very clearly with the trip to Vancouver. Other cases seemed to arise from a man named Foster, who was taken sick on the 30th of June. Foster lived in a cabin at 110 Johnson street. He had a number of friends and one of them was Ramsay, who had visited Foster. Ramsay took the disease on the 6th of July. T. Eddington who also visited Foster, took sick on the 7th of July. Moody, who lived opposite Foster, took the disease on the 6th of July. Although he said he had not visited the cabin he seemed to know all about the case. John McKay's case could also be traced to 56 Pandora street. Then McKay either took his meals at the Osborne House or was removed to that place. From the Osborne House he had several cases. They were Fred Wright, July 6th, and A. Ritchie, July 6th. They could not have taken the disease from McKay when he was taken to the Osborne, but McKay had taken his meals there. It is therefore evident that McKay caught the disease from Burrows, who visited Vancouver and took it to the Osborne House. Another early case was that of Mrs. Chance, who was taken sick on June 28th.

A paper produced showed that the Foresters' excursion to Vancouver took place on the 11th of June.

The Chief Justice said the commissioners agreed with Dr. Richardson's theory, but of course it was only a conjecture.

The doctor continuing said Mrs. Chance said she had not been out of her house for two weeks before she was taken sick.

The Chief Justice—"But someone might have gone into the house."

The doctor said Mrs. Chance told him that one of her husband's workmen had been attending his wife, who was sick with the disease. The work was being done on Whittaker's house on Spring Ridge. Other patients said they had also been working there. He, the witness, knew that Barry, the man who died, had been working on the said building. There were three or four cases from the Balmoral Hotel. The first case from that place was named Graham Lindley. He was seized on the 1st of July. A week before that he had been on board the Empress of Japan with his mother. The doctor understood it was the outward trip. He stated that he took his notes from people who were sick, and when he was pressed for time. He had no idea at the time that they would be of any value. The Lindley case appeared to be the first one. The mother was taken ill on July 13. She accidentally inoculated herself. Then there was the case of W. A. Harding on July 5. All were removed to the hospital. The Lindley boy was removed on the 13th, and Harding on the 15th. They were from the Balmoral. He knew of no other sourse from which the disease could be contracted. There is one case, that of Miss Sweet, which he thought was important as indicating how the disease got into town. She was taken ill on July 3. She told me that she went to a picnic on June 24, held at Mr. Elson's on the Metchosin road. She afterwards remained there a couple of days. She told me the caretaker of the Albert Head quarantine was at the picnic.

Dr. Prager—"Were there any cases there at the time?"

Dr. Richardson—"I have no means of knowing. I believe there was one, however. Miss Sweet also told me she had occupied a bed at Elson's, which a lady named Livingston, who had been at Albert Head in March, had also occupied. No one else who was there took the disease. No cases are traceable to Miss Sweet. I will take the case of Mr. and Mrs. Ball. Their child died of smallpox early in the epidemic. Miss Munsie, who contracted the disease, watched Mrs. Ball cleaning out her house and shaking out her clothes after the child died. Mrs. Ball did not know where her child caught the disease, but said before her child took it there were cases of reputed chicken-pox next door. The circumstance struck me as being peculiar. The other cases I know of are all apparently traceable to houses in the neighborhood."

Of my earliest cases that of Rose Hamilton, an inmate of the Refuge Home, 105 Cormorant street, taken ill on June 26th, may throw some light on it. She told me that Georgie Campbell, another inmate had died, she thought, of the disease. I believe the Campbell woman did die of smallpox, but have no personal knowledge. She came from Vancouver to the Refuge Home. Sexton, a hostler at Bray's stables, took ill on June 28th. I have found no place to which the infection may be traced.

There was a story going the rounds that infected clothes were sent to Niles' dress-making department adjoining the Clarence Hotel, to be repaired. The Bull girl, who visited Niles' house, was taken ill on the 7th of July. Her sister, who worked there, took the disease on the 29th of July. A third sister was taken ill on the 14th of July. The other cases grouped together seem to have some connection with the case of the late W. R. Brown. He had marked the position of the different cases on a map. The cases were in a group. The Heals claim that their child caught the disease from George Brown, who had been nursing his brother, Henry Brown, who died at the hospital, was in a terrible state. His hands had been free and he had torn his face and body terribly. This was before witness took charge. The case of Dickenson, he would also like to mention. Dickenson says he was not out of town until the day he became unwell. He said that the man who took supplies to Albert Head came to his store. He (witness) heard that the man used the provision wagon for an ambulance. Dickenson fell ill on the fourth of July. The Chinaman found on Herald street had had the disease and had fully recovered. Several cases developed around the place where the case was found. The Chinaman said he was taken sick shortly after he left the steamer Batavia and was sent into the country. McMillan, who died, worked next to where the Chinaman was found.

The Chief Justice said from the information he should think the Japan boats brought the disease here.

The Doctor said it appeared to him at the time that the outbreak could be traced to five or six points. The dates he had might be erroneous.

The Chief Justice said the hints given by the doctor were very valuable, although not evidence.

Dr. Richardson said that out of 40 patients not vaccinated, 13 died, while only one man who had been vaccinated died, and he had black smallpox. Thus, only one out of 54 patients vaccinated died, while 13 out of 40 patients not vaccinated, died. Before discharging a patient from the hospital he was given a soap and water bath every second day, until his skin was thoroughly clean. They were then given baths with bichloride of mercury. The patient just before leaving went into one room, undressed, took a bath in another room, and then dressed in a third room, where they were given new clothing and what little old clothing was returned to patients was

MANITOBA SCHOOL QUESTION.

The Ottawa Government's Way of Dealing With Archbishop Tache's Petition.

What the Sub-Committee is Expected to Report—Reference to Supreme Court.

From our own Correspondent.]

OTTAWA, Oct 8.—The proposed Governmental action in respect to the Manitoba School question is likely to create a little surprise when it becomes generally known. At the present time there is no subject in Canada which creates a deeper interest in political matters. What will the Government do with the petition of Archbishop Tache, of Manitoba, for remedial legislation under the appellate powers of the Governor-in-Council respecting education? has been the question which everybody here who pays any attention to politics has been asking. The subject has created as much attention outside of Manitoba as in it. The right of petition for remedial legislation is not denied. Everyone, no matter how humble his position in public life, has the right to bring his grievances to the foot of the throne by way of petition. That is the birthright of every British subject, and belongs to the freedom of our institutions. It is exactly at this point where the Dominion Government is now likely to assume a sort of position of irresponsibility and allow this vexed question to continue to agitate the public mind for some time to come.

WHAT THE SUB-COMMITTEE MAY DO.

In the meantime the petition of Archbishop Tache lies before a sub-committee of the Privy Council awaiting their report. The committee comprises Sir John Thompson, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Hon. J. A. Chapleau and Hon. Edgar Dewdney. It is said that they will report to the full Cabinet that the question is not yet beyond the stage when it would be best for the courts to dispose of it, or at all events to have something more to say concerning it. It will be remembered that some three sessions ago Mr. Blake introduced a resolution in the House of Commons dealing with such cases as the Manitoba school law. In the following session the Supreme Court Act was amended in the direction suggested by Mr. Blake. Mr. Blake stated that he regarded it as settled (1) that as a question of policy there should be no disallowance of educational legislation; (2) that Parliament should not ask for a change of the constitutional act, as respects education, against the will of the province: and (3) that "the only questions which could practically arise within our domain are such as may be raised by way of appeal under section 93 of the Manitoba Act." It is expected that the committee will point out that the first proposition of Mr. Blake was followed by the Government in the Manitoba school case; that the second proposition is one for Parliament and not the Executive to deal with, and is one which can be raised at any time a member of Parliament deems the circumstances fitting. The third proposition has come up for consideration under the petition presented by Archbishop Tache which is now before the committee.

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

The committee are expected to point out that in many quarters there is a difference of opinion as to the legal right of such an appeal as is mentioned by Archbishop Tache. Some maintain, and their opinions are deserving of much consideration, that the appeal contemplated by section 93 of the B. N. A. Act and by the Manitoba Act, does not lie in the present instance, in view of the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council upholding the constitutionality of the Manitoba school legislation, and in effect decreeing that nothing in such laws prejudicially affects any right or privilege with respect to denominational schools, which any class or persons had by law or practice in the province at the time of the union. On the other hand, the Roman Catholics of Manitoba are firmly of the belief that the right of appeal does exist under sub-section 2 of clause 22 of the Manitoba Constitution Act, and that by implication, if not as a necessary sequence, remedial measures may be taken by the Governor-in-Council and by the Parliament of Canada under sub-section 3. It is not necessary to give these sections, since they have been frequently quoted since this controversy opened.

The right of appeal having been claimed, it will be contended that the duty of the Government now is to ascertain how far an appeal lies, and how far the power of the remedial legislation exists under the constitution, by a reference of the question to the Supreme Court and to the judicial committee of the Privy Council, as provided by the Supreme Court Act of 1891.

If this idea is carried out then the political arena will be rid of this burning question for some time, but sooner or later the Government will have to pronounce upon it, and they might as well do so now as later.

SLABTOWN.

Those Ill-treated Guards.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The First Dragoon Guards regiment, Colonel Sayer, stationed at Thorncliff, have suddenly been ordered to Windsor to take the place of the mutinous Life Guards at that station. The latter in turn have been sent to Thorncliff. This action is unprecedented with Life Guards, they having always been stationed in London or Windsor, and their transfer to the bleak cliff on the Kent coast is about as severe punishment as could be devised short of actual disgrace. The officers will be sadly lonesome at a camp distant from any large city, the nearest point of any size at all being the town of Hythe.

A handsome complexion is one of the greatest charms a woman can possess. Pozzoni's Complexion Powder gives it.

Phœnix Lager Beer.

A Canadian in Trouble.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 17.—High social circles in Belgium are agitated over the scandal caused by the arrest in this city of a wealthy Canadian named Ward, 22 years of age, on the charge of criminal relations with two young girls at Bourges, France. Ward was delivered to the French police to be taken to Bourges for trial. He declares that he is the victim of a blackmail scheme, and the Brussels police are inclined to the same opinion. The interest felt in Belgium is due to the fact that Ward is connected by marriage with one of the leading families in the country. His sister was married last year to a son of the late Prince de Chimay, who, at the time of his death, was foreign minister. Young Ward is the son of the late Ebor Ward, the wealthy Michigan lumberman. His mother was married a second time to a Mr. Cameron, of Toronto, where the whole family lived for some years.

Salvini, The Younger.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—Alexander Salvini began his first engagement as a star in San Francisco to-night at the California Theatre to one of the largest and most fashionable audiences of the season. The opening bill was a scenic revival of Dennery's popular romance "Don Cæsar de Bazan," of which the young actor presents his own version in five acts, adapted from the English, French and Spanish dramatic editions. The play has been made familiar here by Booth, Fechter and other actors of note, but it never created the enthusiasm that it did to-night with young Salvini as the reckless Spanish grandee. Salvini was given an ovation. Manager Wilkinson has arranged for his appearance in all the principal cities of the Pacific coast and the northwest previous to his return east.

Too Fond of Intrigue.

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Herr von Brandt, German ambassador to China, has resigned. The National Zeitung says the cause is the interference of the Foreign Office with his methods at the court of Pekin. Herr von Brandt was a complainant recently in the suit for criminal libel against Carl Paasch. The latter accused the ambassador of having intrigued to prevent his obtaining mining and railway concessions in China; of having seized his private papers; of having imprisoned him, and of having tried to send him to an insane asylum. These charges Paasch published in pamphlets. At the trial he produced a witness who swore that Herr von Brandt had also imputed insanity to him when their commercial plans were antagonistic. Whether or not these charges have anything to do with Brandt's retirement cannot be ascertained.

Famous Horses Auctioned.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Lovers of fine horse flesh have been attracted here in force to-day from many parts of the country by the opening sale of the famous Algeria stud, owned by the late Congressman W. L. Scott of Erie, Pa. The sale is in progress at Tattersall's, Hunt's Point Paddocks, and includes the great French horse Rayon d'Or, amongst whose brilliant sons and daughters are the $30,000 Bolero, Tenny, Banquet, Key Tray, Gypsy Queen, Cotilion, and other lights of the turf. There are 128 horses in this stud, and after they have been disposed of the entire studs of the late William Astor and the Countess d'Agreda, formerly Mrs. George Lorrilard, will go in under the hammer.

Charged With Heresy.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 17.—At an adjourned meeting of the Presbytery this morning, a special committee, comprising Rev. Dr. McKibbenn, Rev. Dr. Thomas O. Lowe and D. H. Shields, an elder, appointed by the Presbytery to prosecute Prof. D. P. Smith of Lane Seminary for holding heretical doctrines while acting as an instructor of theological students of the church, presented its report, setting forth the charges and specifications in detail. The report was adopted, and it was ordered that notice, a copy of the charges, should be served forthwith upon Prof. Smith. Under the laws of the church the latter is given ten days to reply, and the trial will then proceed to a finish.

Carnegie Enjoying Himself.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—News comes to this country from the United States announcing the immediate return of Carnegie. He is in London and will leave on Tuesday, but not for the United States. He is bound for Paris, and then will pass on for the northern lakes, intending to pass the winter in Southern Italy. Owing to his absence in Europe he has been personally disassociated from the events which have fastened public attention on his industry at Homestead. His visit to Paris is in connection with the literary work he has in hand and upon which he is spending much time and labor. He will not return from the continent this side of Christmas.

Only a Wretched Reporter.

CLINTON, Ind., Oct. 17.—In the presence of a large number of newspaper men and others the monument erected to the memory of Leonard Washburne, the noted sporting reporter of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, and who a year ago yesterday met his death on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad while riding on an engine for the purpose of gathering material for an article, was formally unveiled and dedicated. The monument, which is a tribute from the Inter-Ocean to its late employee, is of bare granite, dark blue in color, and about six feet in height.

Not Well Posted.

There is no class of men who love a joke more than the clergy, nor do they hesitate to tell it even at their own expense.

The Rev. George St. Tiger, vicar of Hastings, recently deceased, was a man noted for his eloquence, piety and keen sense of humor. He made it a point to get acquainted with all his parishoners, rich and poor, and so great was his memory that once seen and spoken to he never forgot a name or a face.

One Good Friday he noticed close up to the front of his congregation a poor looking old woman whom he could not recall ever having seen before.

While he was describing the Master's agony at the crucifixion the old woman appeared to be profoundly moved, and as he grew more eloquent she fairly sobbed aloud.

Feeling that he had made an impression on the old woman and hoping to improve it, he hurried to her after the services were over, and after shaking her hand he said:

"I am glad, my friend, that you liked the sermon."

Judge of his astonishment when the old woman asked:

"Oh, sir, how could you go for to tell sich an awful story?"

"But, my sister," he replied in surprise, "I told the truth."

"And how long ago did you say it was, sir?"

"It was more than eighteen hundred and fifty years ago."

"So long as that?"

"Yes, quite as long as that."

"Thank the Lord," she responded, "it was so long ago that it don't consarn us. And don't you think, sir, that after all it's comfortin to think it mayn't be true?"

FOR THE NORTHERN PACIFIC.

The Famous Atlantic Steamers Alaska and Arizona to Come Here.

It is announced from Tacoma that the Alaska and Arizona, Atlantic steamships, of the Union line, will be refitted this winter and brought around Cape Horn next spring to be put on the Northern Pacific, Puget Sound and Oriental line next summer. The Alaska and Arizona are faster than the Canadian Pacific steamers and when refitted will be first-class ocean greyhounds. At present the Alaska ranks among the fastest of the steamships plying between New York and European ports.

The announcement continuing says: Hereafter all steamers on the Northern Pacific will be withdrawn except the Zambesi. Victoria and a steamer now being remodeled to sail under the name of Tacoma.

Harry E. Connon, agent of the line, is out of town, so he could not be seen. A TIMES man saw E. E. Blackwood, agent of the Northern Pacific. He said: "I think that the report is likely to be correct, although I have no direct information. The vessels are good ones and would make splendid time. The Alaska, as you know, has a creditable record for time across the Atlantic. The two steamers are owned in Scotland and are open to charter, I believe.

CITY POLICE COURT.

Chinese Gamblers Pay Their Respects to the Bench.

Justices of the Peace Dalby and Shakespeare presided in the police court this morning. Magistrate Maccrae was suffering from an injured limb.

Arthur Hocking and a man giving his name as Antonio were each fined £5 for imbibing too freely.

Hip Lung owner of a Chinese washhouse in Fisgard street, had stove pipes too near the woodwork. Chief of the fire department Deasy told the court that he had given Lung notice several times. Fined $5 and $2.50 costs.

Ah Sun, Hi Chu, Ah Loy, Ah Fong, Ah Si, Ah Goon, Ah Quong, Ah Ping, Ah Sue were charged with looking at others playing fan tan. The Celestials were arrested last night at a Chinese gambling den, 40 Comorant street. They were ranged round the court table in semicircular formation, and each was asked by the Chinese interpreter how he pleaded. The invariable reply was given by each of Celestials that he did not go there to gamble nor to look on. They all happened to be at the gambling house paying a friendly visit to their relatives, as is the custom in the Flowery Kingdom. Ah Goon told the interpreter to tell the court that he was only in the den two minutes. And because the court did not pronounce him guiltless the Celestial began to speak in a hasty manner in a high tone of voice.

Sergt. Hawton struck the Celestial on the shoulder and told him to keep quiet. Ah Goon turned round upon Sergt. Hawton and for a moment it looked as if the relative merits of British and Mongolian muscle would be tried. Sergt. Hawton got a firm grip on shoulders of Ah Goon. He bounced the celestial up and down, forward and backward, till Chief Sneppard cried "Enough." The Chinaman had also had enough. He meekly fell into his place, and during the remainder of the proceedings respected the force if not the majesty of the law. The fine of the court was $30 and $2½ costs in each case. A month in jail was the alternative. One celestial wanted to know why it was so much. It was only $10 the last time he was gathered in. The audience laughed, and the bench told the celestials that the next time they appeared it would be $65.

Cheek Carries Him Through.

SOMERVILLE, N.J., Oct. 18.—Parry Hilliard Wylie, with only ten cents in his pocket, passed through here on his bicycle this morning, en route to Chicago. He is trying to show how cheaply a man can beat his way on a wheel. This is the outcome of a wager between two rival firms, one of whose wheels Wylie is riding. The plucky rider left New York early yesterday morning and met his first difficulty in endeavoring to beat his way across the ferry. He carries a little book in which he records the name of every person who aids him with a nickel or a lodging; his cheek and wheel comprise his stock-in-trade. He expects to go through Philadelphia, Hagerstown, Md.; Wheeling, W. Va.; Columbus, Ohio; and Indianapolis. Mr. Wylie has only recently completed a trip from New York to Washington and return, with a total expenditure of only thirty cents. He carries no baggage, except a rubber coat.

The Condition of the Poor.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Delegates from radical clubs, trades unions, etc., held a meeting yesterday and resolved as a further step toward the demonstration which it is proposed to hold in Trafalgar Square, on behalf of the unemployed, to issue a manifesto calling a public meeting for November 15th, at which the condition of the poor will be discussed. Mr. Saunders, M.P., read amid cheers, a letter written by Sir William Harcourt, when Home Secretary in 1884, expressing regret that any laws had been passed forbidding the holding of public meetings in places where it had been customary to hold them, and promising that no more such legislation should be sanctioned.

Storms in the British Isles.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—A severe storm set in over Northern England, Scotland and Wales on Thursday night and raged very severely. The wires were broken down in every direction. Tidings of the disaster, shipwreck and loss of life are beginning to come in. The rivers in all this territory are out of their banks, doing great damage to unharvested crops and flooding the lowlying towns. In places the country is inundated for miles. One hundred sheep and cattle were in danger of being drowned in the river Derwent. At Dunbar a railroad bridge was swept away and a freight train on the bridge at the time went down also. The train hands fortunately escaped. A French lugger went ashore off Guernsey, all on board being drowned.

Weekly Budget FROM 42 BROAD STREET

READ! 'TWILL INTEREST YOU.

To sell two Suits of Clothing for every one I've sold before is a task I've set myself to perform this season. It looked almost hopeless, but I rolled up my sleeves and went at it. I'm glad to say that so far I've not only GOT THERE, but am past the mark and almost up to THREE TO ONE. Of course in doing this: FIRST—I had to chop the head off exorbitant prices and at the same time give the very best in the market for the least money. Industry, economy and strict attention to "Biz" were also great factors; but the chief one was the CHOICE SELECTION OF MATERIALS shown, combined with CLOSE PRICES. Such as:

English Serge and Tweed Suitings, $32, $35, $37.
Scotch Cheviots and Bannockburns, $25, $28, $30, $32, $35.
Irish Tweeds and Serges, $28, $30, $33, $36, $39.
Trouserings from $5 up.

I can easily make a reduction of from $1 to $4.50 on above suit quotations were I to use inferior trimmings or poor workmanship. This I've determined not to do. No, No! None of that on my plate, as I've had a hard pull to get my reputation where it stands to-day for HIGH CLASS and CLEAN, HONEST WORK. My order book is beginning to get belly-fat, and as I will not turn out, under any circumstances, slovenly, ill-made or bad-fitting garments, it is necessary for those gentlemen who require a Winter Suit to place their orders now, as I always go for my work in rotation as it comes in.

DRESS SUITS A SPECIALTY, at

JOHN McCALLUM'S, The Fashionable Tailor, 42 Broad Street.

To-Day

Hood's Sarsaparilla stands at the head in the medicine world, admired in prosperity and envied in merit by thousands of would-be competitors. It has a larger sale than any other medicine. Such success could not be won without positive merit.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring the peristalic action of the alimentary canal. They are the best family cathartic.

A Parisian Prisoner.

The end of all justice is or should be the same, but the method of administration differs greatly in civilized lands.

In the United States the judge lets the district attorney and the prisoner's counsel do the talking, while he decides only on the law of the case, and at other times looks dignified and austere. In France, however, the judge does much of the cross questioning, and occasionally the passages between himself and the prisoner are very amusing, nor does he always get the best of it.

Recently a vagrant was brought before a Paris judge, when the following conversation took place:

Judge—Prisoner, what were you doing on the boulevard?

Prisoner—I was walking there.

Judge—How! At 2 o'clock in the morning?

Prisoner—Exactly. I was walking, being too poor to ride.

Judge—But why were you out at that hour?

Prisoner—It is a quiet hour.

Judge—Too quiet for honest men.

Prisoner—There is no article in the code which says I may not walk in the boulevard at 2 o'clock in the morning.

Judge—Where do you live?

Prisoner—I decline to tell.

Judge—Why do you decline?

Prisoner—Because my many creditors might learn and hunt me up.

Judge—One question more. What do you do for a living?

Prisoner—Must I answer?

Judge—Yes.

Prisoner—I sell secondhand toothpicks.

Canadians Do Not Care For Such a Treat.

SCENE: Scotch Churchyard.

Ancient native to stranger: "Aye, ye may weel say't; it's a bonnie place, a bonnie, bonnie place. In my young days it wis considert a great treat to be buried here!"

With us in Canada, lonely churchyards and beautiful cemeteries have no special attractions for the living. The living bury their dead in these places, but have no wish to be laid there themselves. All who are suffering from sickness and disease make every possible effort to keep away from these resting places of the dead.

Often the efforts of the sick and diseased are misdirected and futile. The weak, nervous, and broken down in body, who vainly seek health through the common patent medicines of the day, will soon find that they are working in gross darkness. The dyspeptic and sleepless who are placing confidence in any of the quack nostrums of our times, are hastening to the grave.

To avoid the agonies of disease and suffering, and the terrors of the grave, the wise and prudent use Paine's Celery Compound when a cure is desired. No other remedy ever given to mankind can so effectually check disease and banish pain. This heaven-given medicine is near every sufferer in Canada. It guarantees a cure in every case; it takes up those who are pronounced incurable, and works wonderfully for all such suffering mortals. If you value life, give Paine's Celery Compound a fair and honest trial. It will cure.

Fastening the Corset.

The question of fastening the stays from the top down or vice versa is one that is best decided by one's self, though the French corset maker claims that a stout woman should always clasp her corset from the top down, and a slender one reverse this mode. The broad bone with an under lining of plush is most desirable in all stays, but is really the one most seldom seen. People write and talk against stays without ever having tried those that are really proper to wear.—Mrs. Mallon in Ladies' Home Journal.

How to Remove Scorches from Linen.

Scorches may be removed from linen by spreading over them the juice of two onions and half an ounce of white soap. To remove rust or ink stains spread the stain with a paste of lemon juice and salt and lay in the sunlight. Of course this applies to white linens only.

How to Make Hens Lay Eggs.

Provide them with clean quarters. See that they get at least one meal a day of food in which there is red pepper, and do not go near the nests until sundown.

How to Press Seams Tailor Fashion.

The pressing board needed is about twenty-six inches long and shaped like a skirt board, perhaps 2½ inches wide at the small end and 3½ at the large end. It has rounded edges and is thick enough not to need padding or covering. Press thick cloth with a firm, hard stroke, letting the iron remain on the goods if necessary. If unlined cloth or flannel is being pressed the iron must not stand on it, for a mark would be left on the right side. The flat sides of the board are used to press the waist seams, the long edges are for the sleeve seams and the round ends for the armhole seams. In doing these last the board is braced between the knees, one end resting on the floor. All this pressing is done holding the board in the lap. But the special knack is to press all seams above the waist line down and below the waist line up. This keeps out wrinkles.

How to Test the Soundness of Timber.

If the car is held in the middle of one of the ends while a blow is struck by another person at the opposite end, the timber can be tested by sound. Good timber will convey the sound of the blow clearly and distinctly. Rotten or bad wood will destroy it.

How to Clean Oilcloth.

Never use soap in scrubbing oilcloth nor a hard scrub brush, but use a soft brush and then wipe with a wet cloth. Once in awhile apply a coat of copal varnish to keep it looking new.

How to Obtain Oil of Rose Geranium.

Fill a wide mouthed bottle with fresh rose geranium leaves that have been gathered when dry, and pour in as much perfectly pure glycerin as the bottle will hold. Cork it securely and keep in a warm place for several weeks, when it will be ready for use. It is good for the bath, also for rough or chapped skin.

NO. 173.

A BY-LAW

TO ENABLE the Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars for the purposes therein set forth.

Whereas it is necessary that the streets and sidewalks should be maintained and bridges improved and constructed, and whereas an insufficient sum of the present year's unexpended revenue is at this time available for such work, it is therefore deemed expedient to raise a sum of money for the above purposes.

And whereas for the purposes aforesaid it is intended to raise by way of loan upon the credit of the city the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars.

And whereas it will require the sum of $1,289.06 to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of the debt and interest as hereinafter mentioned.

And whereas the amount of the whole ratable property of the said Corporation of the City of Victoria according to the revised assessment roll, for the year 1891, was $17,563,148.

And whereas it will require an annual special rate of 3-40th of a mill in the dollar for the payment of the interest and the creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the principal of the said interest debt, according to the Municipal Act, 1892.

And whereas it is intended to reduce the general rate so that the said Special rate shall not increase the total rate of taxation.

Be it therefore enacted by the Corporation of the City of Victoria as follows:

SECTION 1.—It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow upon the credit of the said Corporation, by way of the debentures hereinafter mentioned, from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same as a loan, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $25,000.00 currency, or sterling money at the rate of $4.86 2-3rds dollars to the one pound sterling, and to cause all such sums so raised or received to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer of the said Corporation for the purpose and with the object hereinbefore recited.

SECTION 2.—It shall be lawful for the said Mayor to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums as may be required, not exceeding, however, the sum of $25,000.00 either in currency or sterling money (at the rate of $4.86 2-3 dollars to the one pound sterling) as may be required, each of the said debentures being of the amount of $1,000 or its sterling equivalent at the rate aforesaid, and all such debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Corporation and signed by the Mayor thereof.

SEC. (3).—The said debentures shall be made payable in fifty years from the date hereinafter mentioned for this By-law to take effect, at the office of the Treasurer of the said Corporation in the City Hall, Victoria, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest, and the signature of the Mayor or of the Clerk of the Corporation respectively to the coupons may be affixed by printed, stamped or lithographed fac simile.

SECTION 4.—The said debentures shall bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent. per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly at the office of the said Treasurer.

SEC. (5). For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and the interest to become due thereon, an equal special rate of 3-40ths of a mill in the dollar shall in addition to all other rates be levied and collected in each year upon all rateable property within the City of Victoria during the continuance of the said debentures or any of them.

SECTION 6.—This By-law shall before the final passage thereof receive the assent of the electors of the said Corporation in the manner provided for by the Municipal Act, 1892, and shall take effect on the 14th day of October, 1892.

SECTION 7.—This By-law may be cited as the "Street Loan By-Law, 1892."

Passed the Municipal Council this 28th day of September, 1892.

Received the assent of and confirmed by the Municipal Electors on the 11th day of October, 1892.

Reconsidered, adopted and finally passed the Municipal Council on the 12th day of October, A.D. 1892.

[L.S.] ROBERT BEAVEN, Mayor.

Extension of Broad Street to Cormorant by Local Improvement.

Pursuant to section 15 of By-law 170, a by-law to provide for the assessment of real property benefitted by Local Improvements, the following is hereby published, viz:—

CITY HALL, Victoria, Oct. 5, 1892.

His Worship the Mayor and Board of Aldermen.

GENTLEMEN—We, the undersigned, having received a copy of a resolution passed by the Council on the 28th of September, re Broad street extension across lot 1252, block T, have the honor to submit the report and plan attached, in conformity with sections 4 and 5, by-law 170, intituled "A By-law to provide for the assessment of real property benefitted by local improvements."

The following is a description of the real property which in our opinion will be benefitted by the proposed improvement, viz: A portion of the southerly half of Block N., composed of lots 584, 585; east half of 589, 590, 591, 592; the easterly part of 535, 1252 and 1251, Block T.; 657, 658, 659, 660, and part of 661, of the westerly part of Block U.; also 664, 665, 666, 667 and a part of 668, a portion of the easterly part of Block U, also 159a, 160a, 161a, and 162a, a portion of the westerly part of Block 2; also 423, 424, a portion of the easterly part of Block 2; also 164a 165a, 166a, 167a, 168a, 169a, and 170a, and 414, a portion of the westerly part of Block 13; also 406, 413, 416, and 429, a portion of the easterly part of Block 13

2. We consider the proposed improvement will be permanent.

3. The estimate cost of the proposed extension, including right-of-way, removing and making good buildings, grading and macadamizing street, sidewalks, etc., is $12,000, which amount is assessed against the property, that in our opinion is immediately benefited.

4. The proportion in which the assessment is made on the various portions of the real property benefited, is described in detail in the list hereto attached. The real property benefited is shown in red on the plan attached.

Sub-Section D, showing the Proportion on which the Assessment is to be made on the various Lots benefited.

CITY HEALTH NOTICE

THE ACTING MEDICAL HEALTH OFficer for the City of Victoria recommends that all citizens be required to thoroughly clean up their premises, removing all garbage heaps, decaying vegetables, stable manure, and night soil, and disinfecting all closets and drains as often as necessary, and generally to comply with the provisions of the "Consolidated Health By Law."

By order.
WELLINGTON J. DOWLER, C.M.C.

Victoria, October 1, 1892.

EXTRACTS FROM THE "CONSOLIDATED HEALTH BY-LAW.

ACCUMULATION OF FILTH.

No person shall permit or suffer the accumulation, so as to be a nuisance, of any offal, filth, refuse, stagnant water, or other offensive matter or thing upon his premises, or on any vacant lot belonging to him, or for the owner or lessee of which he is the agent.

No person shall place on any land or in or upon any street, road, or highway, any manure or other refuse matter, or any dirt or filth which is, or is likely to become, a nuisance.

No person shall convey or cause to be conveyed through any street, road, or highway, any night-soil, swill, or other filth or offensive matter dangerous to health, between the hours of six in the morning and twelve in the evening, or at any time except in a proper covered cart or vehicle, so as to prevent slopping or spilling.

Every tenant or occupier of a building shall dispose of all animal and vegetable refuse from such building or on the premises occupied therewith, either by burning the same or by placing it in a proper covered receptacle, the contents of which he shall cause to be removed at least once every week.

No person shall throw into, or leave in or upon, any street, court, square, road, lane, alley, wharf, public enclosure, vacant lot, pond, or body of water, any dead animal, dirt, sawdust, soot, ashes, cinders, shavings, hair, shreds, manure, fish shells, waste water or filth of any kind, or any refuse, animal, or vegetable matter whatever.

DRAINAGE AND PRIVIES.

The owner, lessee, agent, or person having the care of any ground, yard, vacant lot, or other property where stagnant water or other nuisance exists, abutting on any street through which a common sewer shall have been constructed shall cause the same to be effectually drained into such common sewer.

The owner, lessee, agent, or occupier of any building or premises used as a dwelling house, hotel, restaurant, saloon, shop, store, office, factory, wash-house, or otherwise, shall furnish the same with a sufficient drain under ground to carry off all waste or foul water or liquid filth; and no such drain shall empty or discharge into or upon any street, road, or highway, or any open drain thereon, unless in the opinion of the Mayor and Council the same shall not be detrimental to the public health.

All vaults and privies shall be made tight, so that the contents thereof cannot escape therefrom, and as remote from any dwelling, well, or water tank as practicable.

OVERCROWDING.

No person shall let or occupy, or suffer to be occupied, as a dwelling or lodging, any room which—

(a.) Does not contain at all times at least 384 cubic feet of space for each person occupying the same;

(b.) Has not a window made to open in a manner approved by the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector; or

(c.) Has not appurtenant to it the use of a water-closet, earth closet or privy, constructed in accordance with the by-laws and regulations of the City.

And every room in which a person passes the night, or is found between midnight and five o'clock in the forenoon, shall be deemed to be occupied as a dwelling or lodging within the meaning of this section.

SLAUGHTER-HOUSES.

No person shall erect, open, or use any slaughter-house within the limits of the City of Victoria.

EVENTION OF THE SPREAD OF DISEASE.

Whenever a person suffering from smallpox, cholera, or any other disease of a malignant character dangerous to the public health, is an inmate of any hotel or boarding house, the keeper, or one of the keepers, of such hotel or boarding-house shall immediately give notice thereof to the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector, who shall thereupon take such steps as may be deemed necessary to prevent the spread of such disease.

Every medical practitioner attending or visiting any person who is suffering from smallpox, cholera, or any other disease of a malignant character dangerous to the public health, shall immediately give notice thereof to the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector, who shall thereupon take such steps as may be deemed necessary to prevent the spread of such disease.

Any officer of the Corporation may seize, and under the direction of the Medical Health Officer, the Mayor or the Sanitary Inspector, destroy any tainted or unwholesome meat, poultry, fish, or other article of food exposed or offered for sale.

PENALTY.

Every person guilty of an infraction of any of the provisions of this by-law shall, upon conviction thereof, in a summary manner, before the Police Magistrate or any two Justices of the Peace having jurisdiction in the City, forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars, and costs if ordered; and if such penalty, and costs if ordered, be not paid immediately or within such period as such Police Magistrate or Justices may appoint, the same may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender, or such offender may be imprisoned, with or without hard labor, for any term not exceeding three calendar months, unless such penalty, and costs if ordered, be sooner paid.

MESSRS. DEWDNEY AND DALY.

Mr. Dewdney is now the Lieutenant-Governor of this province, beyond peradventure, all arrangements having been made for his occupancy of the office on November 1st. His appointment being an accomplished fact, there would be no utility in presenting further protests. We cannot refrain, however, from pointing out the foolishness of advancing his alleged good services to the province and to the country at large as a reason for his being appointed. There were only two reasons for the act—one, that Mr. Dewdney wanted the position; the other, that Mr. Dewdney's colleagues wanted to shelve him. That is the bare, bald truth, and it is extremely silly to represent him as receiving his just reward for great labors in the service of the public. Mr. Dewdney has been all these years laboring in his own service; so far as the country is concerned, it has cause chiefly to remember his costly mistakes while in office.

Mr. Daly has been fully installed in office as Minister of the Interior, and arrangements have been made for the necessary election in his constituency, all with a rapidity calculated to daze people accustomed to the deliberate slowness which usually characterizes operations at Ottawa. It is not likely that Mr. Daly's re-election in Selkirk will be opposed. It may be said in this connection that the practice of members of Parliament going before their constituents for approval on taking office under the Crown has now become largely a matter of form, and might better be discontinued altogether. It is a useless survival of times when the commons had some reason to fear encroachments of the Crown on their liberties and rights, but in these modern days there is no cause for any such fear. The rights of the people would not be jeopardized were Mr. Daly or any other member of Parliament to accept a portfolio without securing the approval of his constituents. It would, in fact, be an exceedingly surprising occurrence if any Canadian constituency were to withhold its approval on such an occasion. Canadian constituencies are not "built that way," and the practice of asking them to express their opinion has become a mere farce.

A GRAND ACHIEVEMENT.

Judging from the utterances of some of our Kootenay contemporaries, the Government has shown such masterly inactivity in dealing with the Slocan region as to call forth the sincere admiration of the people there. If there is one thing the residents of a new country like more than another it is delay and shilly-shally in giving them facilities for transportation. This applies with peculiar force to a mining region. Therefore the trifling methods followed in regard to the Nakusp-Slocan wagon road has gratified the people up there to a wonderful degree. This is the way the Ainsworth News speaks about the matter:—

The whole genesis, rise and fall—temporary of course—of Slocan lake may well point a moral and adorn a tale. A new territory was discovered last fall, rich in mineral, tributary to a fine lake, and having an easy outlet to the Arrow lakes. The discoverers and pioneers of the country naturally and laudably tried to appropriate as much of the property surrounding as they could. First the Government stepped in and tried to oust them out of everything. Failing in this it secured the tid-bits. And what it did not get the C.P.R. made its own. On the strength of this influence and power, both the C.P.R. and the Government proceeded to sell real estate, and having cleaned up all there was they have backed down on the whole country. The Nakusp wagon road is a peculiarly discreditable business. Tenders were called for and large expense incurred by private persons to estimate the value of the work in order, apparently, that the Government might find out what the road would cost. Expectations were allowed to be formed and the outlay of capital encouraged on the strength of this road being built. And now there is nothing to show for it. Some time ago we made a comparison between the forces at the back of Kaslo and those at the back of Slocan Lake. Private enterprise has entered the field and government backing, or want of it, has been knocked out of time. We cannot help being inclined to say "we told you so" now that Nakusp has gone overboard, although it is a pitiable spectacle to see a community receive such a set back, because it put some confidence in the promises of a government.

It was very good of the Government and the C.P.R. to delay the Nakusp road in order to afford the Kaslo people an opportunity of showing how much better it is for the pioneers of a new country to help themselves rather than trust to such powers as the Government and the C.P.R. for aid, even when the said powers are making a "good thing" out of townsite speculation. We find this other strong note of admiration in the Nakusp correspondence of the Revelstoke Star:—

It will not be advisable for the owner or owners of the townsites to visit Nakusp or New Denver just now, as there is a lively rumor of a large collection of stale eggs awaiting the arrival of the shilly shallying nincompoops who have been dawdling all summer over the question of the wagon road only to find winter close at hand and nothing done. It makes one sick to see the way this thing has been mismanaged from beginning to end by incompetent red tape officials and the inhabitants and mine owners bamfoozled by certain members of the Government who seem to exist solely for the purpose of making everybody feel like kicking them and for the furtherance of their own selfish ends.

Not only the persons who bought town lots on the strength of the fine promises made by the Government and the Company, but all the people of British Columbia, have reason to applaud this "slick" performance of the two organizations. Truly, if our mineral country is ever to be opened up this is the way to go about it.

THE SILVER DOLLAR.

Silver has recently been quoted as low in the American market as 83.45 cents an ounce, although at the time the offerings of silver bullion were smaller than they had been. Calculating on this basis, certain financial critics in Canada made out the actual value of the American silver dollar to be about 64½ cents. This low value affixed to a coin supposed to be worth 100 cents led these same critics to moralize quite gloomily on the disastrous collapse which they see awaiting the monetary system of the States. It may be well to point out that so long as gold and silver hold their present relationship in the States, and so long as the national treasury can keep its gold reserve unimpaired, there need be no fear of a disaster. The silver dollar is not declared by the Government to contain so much silver as would bring one dollar in gold in the open market. It is declared to be equivalent to one dollar in gold when presented to the Government for redemption. The silver dollar is worth 100 cents in the same way that a piece of paper bearing the U.S. treasury stamp is worth the same amount. It is nonsense, therefore, to talk of the Government forcing the people to take 64½ cents as "being the equivalent in every way of 100 cents." The American people are no more forced to do that than Canadians are forced to take the piece of paper composing a five dollar bill as being actually worth 500 cents. The coin and the bill get their value from their being redeemable in gold. It is important to remember that the United States has so far kept to the gold standard, in spite of the efforts of the silver men. Some few of the Government's obligations are payable in silver, as pensions, etc., but to all intents and purposes the silver dollar is only a promise to pay its holder 100 cents in gold. The silver dollar is not depreciated, nor can it depreciate, unless its unlimited convertibility into gold be taken away, or unless the gold reserve be reduced below a safe level. To take away the unlimited legal tender attribute of the silver dollar is now impossible, and (free coinage of silver aside) while exports keep up on a sufficient scale, there is no fear of the gold reserve going. Were the silver party to gain the day, and force free coinage, the dollar would have to stand on its own bottom, and then its real value would immediately come into play; its value would depreciate, or rather the value of the gold dollar would appreciate; gold would go to a premium, and all the gold would leave the country, with disaster in its train. There is good reason to suppose that the silver advocates will not have their way, for the commercial and banking interests of the country are very solidly arrayed against them.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

From the Dominion Government report relating to the export of horses to Great Britain, which has just been issued, it appears that during the year the export was as follows:—To Great Britain, 1369 horses, valued at $514,875; to the United States, 9261 horses, valued at $1,094,461; to British West Indies, 252 horses, valued at $28,025; to Newfoundland, 157 horses, valued at $13,906; to all other countries, 24 horses, valued at $2850; making a grand total of 11,053 horses, valued at $1,354,027.

The Toronto Board of Trade is badly tainted with treason. It needs the immediate attention of the Toronto Empire and the Vancouver Telegram. Last Saturday, it appears, its members amused themselves by voting on the question of Canada's future course, and when the ballots were counted it was found that 17 had voted for political union with the States, 15 for remaining a British colony and 14 for Imperial Federation. This is rather a startling vote to come from the Toronto Board of Trade—even in fun. Very likely, though, the numbers have not been correctly stated, a conclusion that may well be strengthened by the fact that no vote for independence is reported.

THE BAPTIST CONVENTION.

The Closing Services on Sunday—Powerful Discourses Delivered.

The closing services of the convention were held on Sunday, Oct. 16, when large audiences gathered in the Olivet church, New Westminster. Every church in the city and suburbs of the Reformed Episcopal, Presbyterian and Methodist bodies obtained one or more of the services of the distinguished Baptist preachers that had attended the convention. The services proper of the convention commenced with a song and consecration service in the parlors of the church at 10, and a large audience gathered in the spacious and elegant church at 11 a. m., when Professor Trimble, principal of Grace Seminary, delivered a very powerful discourse from Hebrews 13, 14: "For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come." The reverend professor who is one of the leading educationalists of Washington, urged that the thought of future glory should not impair the usefulness and enjoyment of the present life, but should rather embrace and increase it.

The afternoon services commenced at 2 p.m., when Mrs. Wheeler held spell-bound the children of the Sunday school, with one of her unique talks and lessons to children. Her husband, Rev. E. G. Wheeler, told of the great good that had been done by means of the chapel car, "Evangel." The Young People's Convention held a meeting immediately succeeding the Sunday school sermon, when various methods of work and usefulness were discussed by various speakers. Mrs. Spofford of Victoria, reading a most excellent paper on "The Social Work of the Union" a recommendation to the Home Board Mission for the appointment of an evangelist closed the business of the convention of Young People.

A large audience gathered at the last service of the convention, many of the ministers and delegates coming from the other parts of the city to be present at the wind-up of its business. The preacher of the evening was the Rev. J. E. Coombs, the popular pastor elect of the Calvary Baptist Church, Victoria. The texts chosen as the basis of his discourse were Rev. 7.14, and Psalm 30.5. It is comparatively easy to thank God for special blessings and joys, but when sorrow enters or adversity comes men are apt to complain and rebel. The object that God had in view in the enkindling of his anger was for the development of human character. The refining process, the upbuilding of thought and life, the development the most perfect expression of humanity, was often only obtained by the chastisements of God. The speaker referred to the great steel productions of the great factories of Springfield, where he had formerly labored, and told how he had watched the immense cog-wheels moving in opposite directions, and the various complicated parts of the machinery apparently purposeless, but which all finally resulted in the polished steel bars and manufactured goods so familiar to all; so also, in God's great factory of the world, human character was developed and ennobled by the Providence of God, the hurricane, the deluge, the storm and the fire.

At the close of the sermon many of the ministers present rose and desired to thank their hospitable entertainers in the city, and the church, praying that the richest blessings may abide upon the minister (Rev. J. H. Best), and congregation assembled. The singing of the hymn, "God be with you till we meet again," concluded a convention which all declared to be the largest attended and most enthusiastic in the history of the Baptists on the coast.

Liquor at the World's Fair.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—The National World's Fair Commission and the National Board of Lady Managers assembled here to-day preparatory to the coming celebration. The National Commission is to be asked by the National Temperance Society to veto the contract made by the local manager for the sale of liquors at the Fair on the ground that the contracts are a plain violation of two liquor laws of Illinois as well as of the national charter. It is not thought, however, that the demand will be conceded.

thoroughly disinfected. He believed those who died were buried in part of Ross Bay cemetery. The body was covered with sawdust saturated with chloride of mercury. He was not aware that anyone attended the funerals. The bodies were removed in the ambulance wagon which was kept for the purpose. After the 14th of July the hack and wagon used for removing patients were kept in quarantine. It would have been far better to have had a regular quarantine grounds where the bodies could have been buried. If the bodies are taken up 20 years hence they would be a source of infection. His view was that the bodies could not be said to be uncontagious unless they were cremated. Nothing short of cremation would kill the germs in a body. Cremation would have been the safest way of disposing of the body. As far as he knew the smallpox bacillus had not yet been described. Whether vegetable or animal, bichloride of mercury would destroy the germ.

In answer to Dr. Praeger the witness said he thought scarlet fever and other diseases should be as rigidly quarantined as smallpox or cholera. All such cases, including diphtheria, should be quarantined. The cases should certainly be reported to the health officer.

The commission adjourned at 2·30 until 3:30.

THE PREMIER GOES EAST.

Hon. Theodore Davie Will Interview the Government on Several Questions.

"I leave to-night for Ottawa."

The speaker was the Hon. Theodore Davie and he was walking from his office towards Government street. Mr. Davie spoke again:

"I am going to Ottawa to try and settle several long-pending questions. The railway belt claim is one. Under the terms of union this province agreed to give to the Dominion Government all the lands within 20 miles of the Canadian Pacific Railway. You know that the railway line runs zig-zag. Now the Dominion Government claim 20 miles from any given point upon the line. In this way they get a great deal more land than if the line ran straight; that is easily seen. Well, the Provincial Government wants to effect an arrangement with the Dominion Government. We wish the relinquishing of the point claim. The immigration question will also be brought up by me. The Dominion Government used to support immigrant sheds here, but they have ceased to do so. They express themselves willing to come to an understanding with the Provincial Government. I shall also have a talk on the question of a resident judge for Vancouver. The Dominion Government may be able to do something. Incidentally I will call the attention of the Ottawa authorities to the necessity of a bankruptcy law. But I do not expect any great outcome. I think that, for the present, we shall have to try provincial legislation. The idea expressed by some business men in the TIMES interviews I take to be good. I think that a general convening of representatives of boards of trades of the Dominion would do more than anything else to move the wheels at the Capital City."

CHILCOTIN'S BETE NOIR.

The Stockmen Alarmed at the Ravages Caused by Sheep.

Norman Lee is at the Driard. Mr. Lee is a representative stock raiser of the Chilcotin district. He spoke of his mission to Victoria. "I have been selected by the cattlemen of the Chilcotin district to present an old grievance to the attention of the Provincial Government. I suppose that you have heard of the sheep question? The reports that have been circulated are no exaggeration. The sheep are destroying the country fast. In a few years, if the sheep are permitted to roam at large, the grazing portions of British Columbia will be rendered unfit for stock. The sheep destroy the grass not only for stock, but for themselves. They trample under 50 per cent. more than they graze upon, and besides they crop the grass so low that it seldom again grows. The sheep men, moreover, are non-residents. They have no interest in the future of the country. The only question for them is how much they can get on their invested capital. The stockmen are, with few exceptions, residents. The future of the country depends on their welfare. Some time ago a meeting of the ranchers of the Chilcotin was held at Whiskey Creek. At that meeting a petition was drawn up on the sheep grievance and forwarded to the government. The government replied asking that a representative of the ranchers be sent to Victoria. I expect to see the government to-day."

THE BANKBURN'S SEAMEN.

A Rule Nisi Granted the Sailors on a Very Important Ground.

Application was made yesterday afternoon before the Chief Justice for a writ of certiorari on behalf of John Rosenblom, one of the 13 seamen found guilty of continued wilful disobedience of the commands of the officers of the British bark Bankburn, by M. E. Baynes Reed, stipendiary magistrate, Esquimalt. There were several grounds on which the application was based; but his Lordship ordered a rule nisi on one ground only, viz., that there was nothing in the evidence or in the conviction to justify the magistrate in imposing the sentence.

It appears that the magistrate, besides giving the prisoners six weeks at hard labor, imposed a fine or forfeiture of wages, for payment of expenses properly incurred in hiring substitutes. The contention of the prisoners' counsel is that the magistrate had not authority to impose such a fine, as they had not been in continued disobedience long enough to bring them within the application of the penal clause in the Merchant Shipping Act, and that, even if he had assumed such authority, there was nothing in the evidence or the committment to show it. Argument on the rule will be held soon, and the fate of the unfortunate seamen decided.

For the Kootenay Country.

The Albion Iron Works will ship this evening two carloads of steel pipe to East Kootenay. The shipment will go to Spokane on the Northern Pacific and from Spokane to Jennings, Mont., on the Great Northern. From the latter place it will go up the Kootenay River by steamer to its destination.

The Martha Fisher's Cargo.

The bark Martha Fisher cleared for London yesterday with the first cargo of the British Columbia salmon pack of 1892. She took 34,002 cases of salmon valued at $163,454, six cases of whalebone valued at $700, three cases of personal effects, $200, and a syphon, $5, bring the total value of her cargo up to $164,359.

The Vancouver Telegram says the Grandholm is due there from San Francisco. She will then go on the run between that port and Central America, calling at all way ports. The line will be maintained for a time, and if the amount of business warrants it, other vessels will be added and the line made a permanent one.

To Attend To-night's Meeting.

Rev. J. Coombes of La Conner, recently appointed pastor of the First Baptist church, this city, is here on a short visit, and will attend the evangelical meeting to be conducted this evening by Rev. Thomas Baldwin of Seattle. Rev. Mr. Coombes is not to come here permanently until the first Sunday in November.

Blasting Submerged Rocks.

This morning about eight a blast was fired in a boring of the rock near the centre of the harbor. The water was raised in a tall white column by the explosion, and then fell with great commotion back to its level. A stunning report accompanied the firing of the blast. These blasts will be of frequent occurrence until the rock is blown out.

Returning to Europe.

Robert Kerr, John Ennis and Archibald Baker, the railroad men who have been spending a few days here, left for the east this morning. Mr. Kerr returns to his post at Winnipeg, Mr. Ennis goes to Liverpool and Mr. Baker to London. The latter two join the remainder of their party, now "doing" California, at Montreal, and all cross the Atlantic together.

Provincial Police Court.

The adjourned case of Kerr and Piper vs. Captain Spring, being a claim for wages due them as seamen on the schooner Winnifred, which was seized by the United States government in Behring Sea in July last, was heard this morning in the Provincial Police Court before Magistrates Pearson and McMicking. The plaintiffs were awarded $108 each.

The Mountain Chief Released.

The Indian sealing schooner Mountain Chief, seized by H.M.S. Daphne for sealing in Behring sea, has been released. A dispatch was received this morning from the Imperial government to release the schooner and Collector Milne was notified by the Naval authorities. The Indians immediately placed the schooner on the ways for repairs. Messrs. Miller & Bloomfield, representing the Indians, negotiated for the release of the schooner.

To-night's Grand Concert.

This evening in the First Presbyterian church hall, Blanchard street, a musical entertainment will be given which should prove a great treat. The first part of the programme will consist of the cantata "Rebecca." The choir have practised assiduously upon this work and can render it to perfection. The solo parts will be taken by singers well-qualified to fill the various roles. The second part of the entertainment will be miscellaneous. This is an excellent opportunity to hear really good music.

By request Mr. Brown will sing a Scotch song, "The Wee Wee German Lairdie," a famous Jacobite ditty. This will be worth hearing.

A Paint Factory.

A branch of the Canada Paint Co., of Montreal, will be established in Victoria shortly, the Janion wharf property, belonging to Mr. J. Turner, having been leased for that purpose for a term of seven years. The factory will be in operation in December next, the machinery being now on the way from Montreal. The raw material will be imported from Glasgow. The factory will produce white lead, colors both in oils and dis-tempers, liquid paints, varnishes, lacquers, etc. The business will be under the management of Mr. Jas. L. Forrester, for many years in the employ of Ferguson, Alexander & Co., Glasgow, the largest paint manufacturers in the world. The factory will give employment to 30 or 40 men, one-half of whom will be skilled workmen brought here from Montreal and Glasgow. The industry will be a considerable accession to our manufacturing enterprises, upon the development of which our future very largely depends.

COQUITLAM COMMISSION.

Examination of Witnesses Before United States Commissioners To-day.

The Captain of the Schooner Maud S. Tells What he Knows About the Case.

United States Consul Myers sat as a commissioner in the Board of Trade Rooms this afternoon in the case of the seizure of the Coquitlam. Commissioner Myers sat by virtue of a commission issued out of the United States District Court of Alaska. F. P. Dewes, of Washington, D.C., represented the United States, and E. C. Hughes, of Seattle, acted for the respondents.

Robert McKeill, master of the schooner Maud S, was examined by Mr. Hughes.

Witness produced clearance papers for the Northern Pacific Ocean. They were dated last February 1. He was not bound for any United States port. He went upon a sealing cruise. He had no cargo aboard other than provisions for the trip. When he left home the modus vivendi had not expired. On the afternoon of June 18 he put into Tonki Bay. The following day he transferred his skins to the Coquitlam, going out to sea to do so. The Umbrina, Brenda, Walter A. Earl, Sea Lion, Libby and the Maude S. were towed out to sea by the Coquitlam. He transferred 773 skins in sacks in boats to the Coquitlam after 6 o'clock the same night outside of the three-mile limit. He received two tons of coal from the Coquitlam. Captain Kelly gave witness a receipt for the skins which were consigned to W. K. Brown, of Victoria; the receipt witness placed in a letter and mailed on board the Coquitlam to Captain Brown, of Victoria. The Coquitlam steamed back into the bay after the transfer of skins. The Maude S. returned to Tonki Bay. Witness then took bearings, which showed him to be outside the three mile limit. It took the Maud S. two hours to make the head of Tonki Bay after transferring the skins. His schooner made between 7 and 8 knots an hour.

Lawyer Hughes at this juncture proposed that the smokers be allowed indulgence in the weed.

Commissioner Myers objected. Mr. Myers is an anti-tobacconist.

Lawyer Dewes said that he overruled the objection of the commissioner and ordered cigars duly lighted. He took a matchbox from his pocket, struck a match, lighted a cigar, took a deep pull and exhaled a volume of curling smoke. Mr. Hughes followed suit. Others did likewise. And the commission was, for the being, resolved into a smoking club. This slight indulgence did not divert attention from business.

Lawyer Dewes objected that the clearance papers did not necessarily show the mission of the schooner. Witness was not an expert and had not taken the log after transferring skins.

Witness swore that his purpose in going into Tonki Bay was that he might miss the Coquitlam. It took the Coquitlam upwards of a quarter of an hour to tow two schooners out and return. Witness understood that the Coquitlam steamed eight miles an hour.

The case was in progress at the time of going to press.

THE GREAT DIVIDE.

One More Pioneer Passes From the Scenes of His Joys and Sorrows.

The flags on the fire station towers are flying at half-mast and the Pioneer Society's hall is draped with mourning, in memory of Stalleno Sarra who died early this morning at his residence on Herald street. The deceased, who was known as John Stephens, was one of the oldest timers in the province. He came to Victoria in 1858 with George Vienna, who came from the same town. The two had not seen one another for years, when one day in 1858, George Vienna, who had just returned from the California mines, saw his old friend walk along the street in San Francisco. Sarra had just left a Chilean man-of-war, and both being bound for British Columbia they went to work on the ship Caroline and came to Victoria. They immediately left for the Cariboo mines, returning in a couple of years with enough gold dust to start business. Garre started a small hotel on Johnson street, which he conducted for a few years. He then went into the truck and dray business, which he continued until 1870, when he started the Omineca saloon, of which he was proprietor at the time of his death.

The deceased was a native of Greece, aged about 60. He was assistant chief engineer of the old volunteer fire department for several years; a member of the Pioneer Society and an Odd Fellow.

The members of the old volunteer fire department and the B. C. Pioneer society will attend the funeral.

CHALLENGE TO THE SEALERS.

The Skipper of the Schooner Agnes McDonald Wants a Race.

If some of the sealing men have sufficient nerve to back their estimates of the sailing qualities of their schooners, Pacific coasters will see the greatest sailing race ever proposed. Capt. M. Cutler, of the clipper Agnes McDonald, has issued a sweeping challenge to the fleet for a race to the Sandwich islands and back for $3000 a side. Here is the copy of the challenge:

VICTORIA, B.C., Oct. 4th, 1892.

I hereby challenge any sealing schooner in British Columbia to race the schooner Agnes Macdonald over a course, say from Race Rocks, B.C., to Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, and back, for the sum of three thousand dollars ($3000). This challenge will remain open until November 1st, and if accepted the money must be deposited at the office of the DAILY TIMES.

In explanation of the above I might say, that a number of false statements regarding the Agnes Macdonald's sailing qualities have been made. This will afford a good opportunity of settling the question, especially as the fleet are now home and could be put in racing condition at short notice. M. CUTLER,

Captain,
Schooner Agnes Macdonald.

The money to back the McDonald is ready and Captain Cutler and his backers appear to mean business. The King Fisher, sister ship of the McDonald, is out with the same kind of a challenge at Shelburne. She and the McDonald are off a Burgess model and are both fast.

A SPLENDID ESTABLISHMENT.

The New England Bakery one of the Finest in the West.

Young Brothers will re-open the New England Bakery and restaurant in their own magnificent new building on Government street below Yates street to-morrow. The new institution is a model one. The building is perfectly arranged and thoroughly adapted to the purposes for which it is intended. The structure itself is a finely constructed one. It is of neat design and is four stories in height, built of brick, stone and iron. It is heated throughout with steam and fitted all over with both gas and electric light fixtures.

The bakery and restaurant occupy the first floor and basement. In the latter are the storeroom, general work room, bakery and confectionery, and heat room. It is arranged neatly and conveniently. To the left in front on the first floor is the gentlemen's department of the restaurant. To the rear is the kitchen, a model of neatness and cleanliness. To the right in front is the ladies' department, with its separate entrance. To the rear of the latter is a large diningroom, 40x25, which will be a splendid place for banquets. Off the latter is a small parlor for ladies. An open archway connects the ladies' and gentlemen's diningrooms. It is draped with a pretty portiere.

The three upper stories are to be furnished and let by the Young Bros. themselves. The interior work on them is not all done, but will be very soon. A splendid feature of the upper stories is that every room has a window opening to the outside. They are therefore all light and airy. All are of good size. The staircases are broad and easy of ascent.

The sanitary arrangements of the entire building are perfect. They could not be better. The building is, as stated, a model one, and is worthy of the public inspection, which the Messrs. Young invite. The bakery is already open, and the restaurant will serve its first meals after 5 a.m. to-morrow.

The Microbe.

They are not animals. The bacteria, micro-organisms or microbes, now making so much stir in the world in connection with cholera and other epidemics, are not animals, and the constant reference to them in the newspapers as "microscopic animals" is an error. It would be very near the truth to call them mushrooms. The comma-bacillus of Asiatic cholera, the bacillus of syphilis, the micrococcus of foot-and-mouth disease, the microbe of fowl cholera, the spirillum of relapsing fever, the bacterium of anthrax, the vibriones, and all the other pathogenic or disease-causing micro-organisms now familiarly spoken of are plants and not animals. The are fungi, and their natural kinship is among the toad-stools and mushrooms.—Medical Exchange.

Reuter's playful shuffling of the ministerial cards, says the Madras Times, has given India a supply of newspaper matter that is amusing when read now. That is the humorous side of the mistake. But we trust that Reuter's agency will not neglect the serious side. Of all the many mistakes that the agency has made, its erroneous rendering of the 'official list' of Gladstonian ministers in 1892 is probably the worst.

A writer in Fairplay states that the first steamer that sailed in eastern waters was built at Batavia to the order of an English firm in the year 1810. The ship was named Van der Capellen and she was chartered as a transport by the N.I. Government for two years during the Java war at the rate of ten thousand dollars per month. She was afterwards used as a cargo boat, then as a floating battery, amd was finally destroyed in 1830.

The Penang Gazette reports an amok case on the 4th in which a Hindu was killed, and fourteen Chinese, two Klings and one Malay were wounded, two of the Chinese very severely. The amoker was one of fifty-seven Sarawak Malays who had gone to Penang en route for Kedah in search of work. After a wild sally among the Chinese who crowded the streets, the madman was shot through the thigh by a constable, and died two days afterwards.

Education can be obtained at a very moderate cost, it appears, in the city of Hiroshima. A large private school has been opened there with some 400 pupils, who pay two rin per day only for their schooling. This, as the Hochi Shimbun remarks, is a great convenience for poor pupils. Just 73 cents per annum, supposing the pupils attend every day in the year, is certainly not dear, but our contemporary does not state what kind of teaching the pupils receive.

A queer story is told by the Suntetsu. A dog of foreign breed belonging to a hairdresser living in a village in Nagano Prefecture has been employed for a long time to keep watch over a number of fowls. By constant association with the cocks and hens, apparently, the canine has forgotten his natural mode of expressing his feelings, and instead of barking like other properly conducted dogs, crows like a cock. To listen to the unusual strains numbers of villagers are reported to daily visit the barber's shop.

There are three European ladies residing at Chemulpo, says a correspondent of the North China Daily News, one being the wife of the English consul, one the wife of the commissioner of customs, and the other the wife of the harbor master. But even at such a deserted and dull port as Chemulpo the "convenances" of society must be kept up, so that the two first-named ladies have nothing to do with the harbor master's wife, and the latter, poor woman! has not spoken to another European woman for months.

The Chuwo Shimbum reports a dreadful occurrence at the village of Kiyomi Onogori, in the province of Hida. It appears that a resident of the village, who is rather well to do, determined no longer to bear the expense of attending on his mother, who had for a long time been confined to a sick bed. Having made up his mind to get her out of the way he one night, despite her outeries, placed her in a rude coffin and having nailed down the lid carried her forth and interred her in a hole dug in the side of an adjoining hill. The crime was discovered in a few days by some neighbors and the matricide was arrested.

A new steamer, the Lord Erne, one of the largest vessels ever visiting the port of Yokohama, a four-masted boat with a registered tonnage of nearly 3700 tons, has arrived at Singapore from Cardiff with a cargo of 6000 tons of coal consigned to Messrs. Wills & Co., who recently opened a branch in Singapore. The Lord Erne was built by Harland and Wolff at Belfast, and is manned entirely by Irishmen. Her length is 455 feet, and beam 49 feet, and she draws 26 feet fully loaded. She is twin-screw, and carries 6000 tons of coal, besides 2000 tons in her bunkers, and steams 10 knots on a consumption of 33 tons of coal a day, and 12 knots under forced draught with a consumption of 43 tons. She will go to Calcutta to take in a cargo of jute for Dundee. As she will only carry coal enough going home to take her from port to port, she will accommodate an unprecedentedly large cargo.

Board of Health.

The Board of Health yesterday afternoon appointed a committee to wait upon Mr. S. F. Sinclair in regard to his tender for disposing of the city's garbage by taking it to sea in scows. There is a paragraph in the proposition that the board wished to thoroughly understand before passing it. The same committee will consider the advisability of building a garbage wharf and report on the two subjects at the next meeting of the board. A number of big accounts were not passed by the board.

OLD CONCUSSION..

To THE EDITOR:—A few days ago while on a stroll toward Beacon Hill, I observed a number of persons on Humboldt street, between Government and the Reformed Episcopal Church, in close conversation. From their actions I judged they had some very weighty subject on their minds, which they were anxious to have settled, or had lost something of great value and were searching for it. At times one of the party would point with his finger toward Government street, the others standing still and looking in that direction as if to catch a glimpse of some mysterious being who had winged its way in that direction. Then followed a lively conversation for a few minutes and the party moved on to near the Reformed Episcopal Church, where they came to a halt, and after pacing around for a few minutes a long discussion took place.

At the close of the discussion your correspondent, feeling somewhat anxious to know what all the talk, mysterious signs and motions made by the party, meant, moved forward and most politely asked one of the party if there had been an accident here, an earthquake, lightning stroke, or any other catastrophe which had disturbed the earth around where they were standing. After a few minutes hestitation the spokesman of the party smilingly replied, "There has been no violent shaking of the earth or lightning strokes here that I am aware of, but as you seem to be a little inquisitive to know our business there will be no particular harm, I presume, in telling you that we came here to hunt up Old Concussion. We have heard that he had been here quite recently and has destroyed a great number of the city sewer pipes in this neighborhood. Although we have made a very close search for him, have looked everywhere we can think of, even into the new sewer pipes just laid, but have not been able to find him. I am now of the opinion that Old Concussion has never been around here, in fact I firmly believe he has not been in the sewer pipes at all. If he had been, it is very certain that he never would have crawled through the pipes, smashing them as he passed along, when he could have come out so easy by the main working shaft without hurting anything."

One of the party, named Pat O'Flannigan, who had been an attentive listener to what the spokesman had to say, said, "well, gentlemen, I am satisfied Old Concussion has been here and smashed the sewer pipes, just as we now see them. Although we cannot find the Old Rascal I feel sure he done the deed. Then again do you suppose that those learned gentlemen, the engineers, the commissioners, and the chief inspector of the work, would say that Old Concussion broke the sewer pipes if they did not see him do it, or knew for a certainty that he did? Why, their reputation is based on it, and they will as a matter of course be compelled to stop him in his mad career, or he will drive the ratepayers into rebellion."

A son of old Scotia now took up the discussion, and commenced by stating that "my idea is that Old Concussion had been charged with a crime which he knew nothing whatever about. I admit that Old Concussion is a hard case, and if he has a chance will break things and make the splinters fly, but in this case I believe him to be entirely innocent of the charge laid against him, and the cause of the sewer pipes breaking must be looked for in some other direction and not placed on the shoulders of Old Concussion." After a pause of a second or two the old Scot again said, "Now, gentlemen, my private opinion is that the sewer pipes wanted a good soft bed to lie in and not one such as they have had. And then again they do not want to be put together by a sledge hammer process, but gently pressed in with a leverage force then solidly tucked or tamped around and you have the pipes laid in a manner that will defy anything but an earthquake to break them if the pipes are good."

Scotty having concluded his speech, a vote was taken on the breakage of the pipes, which entirely exonerated Old Concussion from all blame in the matter, and put the responsibility of the breakage on those who ought to bear it, whoever they may be. Three cheers were then given for Old Concussion and the party started for their homes. STROLLER.

Impudent Imposters.

The Alberni-Maguire troupe of variety players is without exception the worst gang of barn-stormers that ever deluded the Victoria public into paying good money for seats. There was not a redeeming point in the entire performance, it was wholly and irretrievably bad and stupid. So utterly inexcusable was the performance that Manager Cort has wisely cancelled the engagement for this evening. The Victoria Theatre orchestra also surpassed themselves last night and played some excruciating music trying to drown one of the alleged vocalists whose discordant yells called forth a storm of hisses from the gallery. Half the audience left before the performance was half an hour old.

A Philosophical Family.

Amelia has pimples and sores in the head,
From humors internal her nose has grown red;
She's a boil on her neck that is big as a bell,
But in other respects she is doing quite well.

And pa has dyspepsia, malaria and gout,
His hands with salt-rheum are all broken out;
He is prone to rheumatics that make his legs swell,
But in other respects he is doing quite well.

And ma has night-sweats and a troublesome cough,
That all our doctors can't seem to drive off;
She wakes every night and coughs quite a spell;
But in other respects she is doing quite well.

There is nothing like philosophy to help one bear the ills of life, but in the case of this family what is most needed is a good supply of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It would cleanse Amelia's bad blood, cure pa's ailments, and check ma's cough. "The Golden Medical Discovery" by its action on the liver, cleanses the system of impurities. It cures humors, ulcers, boils scrofula, salt-rheum, erysipelas and all kinds of sores and swellings. The only guaranteed blood-purifier.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

"It Will Be the Biggest and Most Beautiful Show of the Age."

"People have thought for so long that Chicago was merely a place to do business in," said James W. Scott, publisher of the Chicago Herald, "and have associated it with the stockyards, where so many hogs are killed and packed per second, that the idea of its doing anything in the artistic way seems ridiculous. But I want to say to you that the World's fair will be the most beautiful thing ever seen.

"The Paris exposition was magnificent, but I think the World's fair will be finer. It is generally conceded that American architects are the best. We have more styles and more style. Well, the best architects in the country have been formed into a board, and while each has been accorded a free hand as to the building which he has to design, yet there has been a certain uniformity of design—say, for example, in the size of the openings—which makes all the buildings seem the work of one great mind of wonderful versatility.

"Already you can see and appreciate the magnificence of these buildings. They are magnificent. There is nothing cheap looking about them. The material of which they are built looks like marble or any other kind of stone you choose to make it, and yet it doesn't seem shabby.

"Here's a point. You know the iron girders of structures covering as much ground as these do are usually ugly. The architects realized that this ironwork could not be hidden. They have frankly exposed it, and they have glorified the commonplace. As you stand and look up at the ironwork it seems like lace.

"The trouble in all these expositions has been that there has been no grand scheme of color or architecture. One building would have been handsome if it had been placed right or if its color had not jarred with that of its neighbor. All that has been avoided at Chicago. Frederic Law Olmsted, who is a landscape architect, has planned the site of each building with reference to the lagoon.

"Frank D. Millet, whose position in American art is well known, has charge of the whole scheme of color and decoration. There won't be a popcorn stand the lines of which won't be in harmony with that of its surroundings. There will be electric launches plying on the lagoon to carry people about, and even the color of their awnings has been considered. I know people had an idea that anything Chicago would do would be big, but they also thought it would be a sort of rough pine lumber affair, decorated with red, white and blue print stuff, with rows of stars to it. It won't. Chicago people have made their brags to their friends and then have gone down to the grounds and come away stupefied to find that their wildest imaginings have been double discounted.

"Why, take the matter of flowers. Your Mr. John Thorpe, of Flushing, a man known to every florist in America, and a friend to every wealthy man who has an interest in beautiful plants, has said to them, 'I want the best you've got,' and these rare plants he has set out in their own earth already, so that by the time the fair is opened for visitors those plants will look as if they had been there a hundred years.

"I can't begin to tell you of all the wonderful things there will be to all, but I do wish it could be understood that this is distinctively an American work and a demonstration to the whole world that while we can make money we have the very best artistic feeling, and can do anything we choose when we give our mind to it. Exhibitors from the European governments who have had experience in Paris, in Vienna, in London, in Berlin, when asked to make suggestions have thrown up their hands in despair. They have made suggestions, though, which have been of value, but they are amazed at the way in which the thing has been handled.

"As a sample of the artistic feeling of the thing, let me tell you that the art building, which is in the style of the Parthenon, is the delight of all the architects, because it is more purely Greek than the Parthenon itself. That was added to by people who took bits from outside styles, but the man who designed the best building had the Greek feeling so thoroughly that he out-Greeks the Greeks. And yet it isn't stiff and formal, but full of that, I don't know what, that shows that man took pleasure in his work and made it almost a living thing.

"There will be buildings devoted entirely to departments that in other expositions have been shoved off in a corner. For example, mines and mining will have a building 1,000 feet long by nearly 400 feet wide. Then the new art department of modern engineering, dynamics and electricity will have a building entirely to itself. It is worth it. Dairy products have always been included in the agricultural department. They will have a separate building.

"There will be Chinese streets and an Irish village, with a castle; a Japanese town, with an entertainment, dances and all that; a street from Cairo, reproduced exactly; a street from Bombay, the cliff dwellers' homes and a hundred and one things I cannot think of on the spur of the moment. There will be every possible device known to man for locomotion—gondolas, with real gondoliers; steam launches, electric launches, jinrickshas and elephants carrying passengers. Perhaps the most curious of all will be the moving sidewalk. Passengers brought down from the city by vessels on Lake Michigan will land at a long pier. This sidewalk will carry them up into the grounds among the buildings.—New York World

How They Steal in Mauritius.

Robberies are inconveniences incidental to every community, and the orthodox procedure of "intraction into houses with intent to steal" is not unknown to Mauritius. It is essential before retiring to rest to pass round and see that every bolt is properly in its place, and occasionally on these expeditions a boy may be found lurking under a table or concealed between the doors upon mischief bent, and such proceedings are heard of elsewhere.

But it is not so certain that to be robbed under your very nose is a common experience all over the world. For purposes of ventilation the upper part of windows is left slightly open, and through this, when the occupant of the chamber is plunged in slumber, the end of a bamboo wand is thrust, having attached thereto a small bag filled with a substance whose exhalation is powerfully narcotic.

When the sleeper is thus put beyond all chance of interference, the operator, who, stripped to the skin, has taken the precaution to oil his person thoroughly in case of possible attempt at capture, slips through the open window and has time leisurely to help himself to all he wants. The influence of the opiate wearing off, the happy dreamer wakes to find with morning light that his clothes and property have all vanished. It may be asked at such times, Where are the servants? and echo answers, Where?—Blackwood's Magazine.

HOW TO TREAT CHOLERA.

A Simple Remedy That Was Successfully Used in 1836 and in 1848.

The following simple remedy was used during the severe visitation of the cholera in 1836, and was the means of saving thousands of lives. It was also used with valuable effect in 1848:

Dissolve one ounce of camphor in six ounces of spirits of wine and give a small bottle of it to any intelligent person who will undertake to administer it to his poor neighbors when they are seized with cholera or any of its symptoms, without deviating in the slightest degree from the following instructions:

When any person is seized with symptoms of cholera, such as vomiting, purging, sudden weakness, coldness, cramps or spasms, do not give them brandy or whisky, or any kind of medicine whatever. Put them to bed at once, covering them warmly, but not overloading them with bedclothes, and as soon as you possibly can let the patient (an adult) take two drops (not more) of the camphor mixture on a little pounded sugar in a spoonful of cold or iced water. In five minutes after let him take a second dose of two drops in the same way, and again repeat in five minutes.

He is then to wait ten or fifteen minutes to see whether or not there is a sense of returning warmth, with a disposition toward perspiration and manifest decrease of sickness, cramps, etc., when, if necessary, he must take two drops as before, and repeat the dose every five minutes until fourteen drops have been taken.

In administering this remedy you must particularly observe that if the patient takes anything of any sort or kind, except cold or iced water, while the medicine is operating, its effect will be destroyed, for the least foreign medicine neutralizes the camphor, which is given to check vomiting and to produce a free, warm perspiration. The use of cold or iced water is given on the advice of the late celebrated and successful Dr. Piddock, of London, who always allowed his patients to drink cold or iced water, as it tends to promote free perspiration and also the abundant discharge of yellow bile.

The patient must not be allowed to rise and become exposed to the slightest degree of cold, and should not be tormented with baths, steamings or rubbing of any kind, but be permitted to lie still, as he will fall asleep when perspiration comes on. After some hours the patient will awake well, although weak and languid and perhaps a little feverish, in which case he may get a dose, say a teaspoonful, of Gregory's powder or rhubarb and magnesia, with a little peppermint water or weak sal volatile (fifteen drops) and water to wash it down, but he must be kept quiet, taking only a little thin soup, broth or gruel for a day or two.

How to Clean Paintings.

Rub the picture thoroughly with good whisky. The varnish will come off in the froth. Then wash the surface well with cold water, and when it is dry varnish the picture anew, keeping it away from dust until dry. This process is said to restore all except very old pictures to their original colors.

How to Make a Candle Burn All Night.

A piece of candle will burn all night if salt is sprinkled on it until it reaches the black part of the wick.

How to Restore the Color to Pressed Autumn Leaves.

Dip them in a weak solution of sulphuric acid, shake dry and put in press again. When dry they can be waxed as if fresh.

How to Prevent the Decay of Teeth.

Prepare a wash consisting of fifteen grains of carbolic acid, eight of thymol, seven drams of boric acid, twenty drops of essence of peppermint, 2½ drams of tincture of anise and a quart of water. This makes a good antiseptic lotion and should be applied with a toothbrush every night and morning, taking the place of other dental preparations.

How to Make a Lamp Chimney Cleaner.

Tie a piece of sponge on a thin pine stick. A metal holder is apt to scratch the chimney.

How to Remove the Stain of Tea or Coffee.

These stains will usually come out if the article is immediately put in clean, cold water, but if the stains are of long standing rub pure glycerine on them, and then after washing this out wash the article in the usual way.

How to Wash Blankets.

Select a warm, clear day for washing. Dip the blankets in hot suds, rub and rinse them in good hot water. Hang in the sun until dry.

How to Clean Oily or Greasy Bottles.

Pour in some strong sulphuric acid and keep it there about five minutes, moving the bottle so that the acid will reach every part. Rinse repeatedly with cold water.

How to Make Iced Tea or Coffee.

When nearly ready to serve, fill a pitcher or other receptacle with broken ice. Over this pour a strong infusion of either tea or coffee, letting it stand a little for the ice to melt. Pour out and sweeten to taste.

How to Blanch Almonds.

Soak the almonds in warm water until the skin can be removed easily by pressing each nut between the thumb and forefinger. Then dry them by wiping them on a soft cloth or laying them in the sun or air.

How to Cure Bee or Insect Stings.

Wet some cut tobacco and apply at once to the wound for a few minutes.

How to Exterminate Beetles.

Sprinkle equal parts of red lead, sugar and flour in the places infested.

How to Clean Tin.

After washing, well rub with whiting.

NEWS OF THE INTERIOR.

Extracts of Interest About Inland Mining and Agricultural Industries.

New and Rich Discoveries of Gold and Galena in the Kootenay District.

From the Golden Era.]

A big strike, uncovering the largest and richest body of free gold ore yet found in the Trail Creek district, has been made in the O. K. mine.

The Nelson school board has engaged Miss Stella Kane as teacher and has decided to enforce the law regarding the compulsory attendance of children.

The Swansea (Wales) smelting works have solicited a test shipment of 10 tons of Mosquito Flat ore, to be forwarded from Vancouver by sea. It will be sent.

Walker, Holden & Downs, owners of the Silver Cup, in the Lardeau district, have had several offers for the valuable property, one being in the vicinity of $20,000. Bids of all kinds are rejected.

C. E. Perry, C.E., has been in the Slocan country for the past three months, surveying claims and townsites. He has been working hard and has get through an immense amount of work.

Capt. McCormick, who is interested in the Royal group of placer mines on the Salmon River, is in Spokane for the purpose of purchasing the necessary machinery for the proper development of the claims.

A party headed by Dr. Thomas have left Nukusp to visit a placer claim five miles north of Trail Creek. The claim has been tested before and proved to be fairly rich in gold. Great hopes are entertained of the success of their mission.

A specimen of float tin has been brought into Pendleton from the John Day country. It is supposed that the mother ledge is in close proximity, although it has not yet been discovered. A thorough search will be made for it at once.

Capt. Gordon has the honor of being the first to import sheep into this section. Last week he returned from the east with 250 head and has proceeded to his ranch with them. The inhabitants of the valley will watch with interest the result of this experiment.

The reported recent sale of the Tulameen Hydraulic Company's property to an English syndicate encouraged the miners in that district so much that eight leases of 100 acres each have been taken on the Similkameen, one on the Tulameen and one on Granite Creek.

A meeting of miners and others interested in the workings of the Mineral Act was announced to be held at Revelstoke on Saturday evening. Action would probably be taken in regard to petitioning the forthcoming session of the Legislature to amend the act so as to make it workable.

It is generally understood that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company intend at an early date to fence their property, commencing from a point east of Kootenay House, running in line up to and including the school house and from there to the ranches beyond. Some inhabitants say that the company have no right to monopolize the whole of the locality named and impede traffic by doing as is mentioned.

From the Kootenay Star.]

Dr. Ernest McLean, one of the Government medical inspectors during the recent smallpox scare, has pitched his tent in Revelstoke.

An expert in the art of hand-reading or palmistry has been in town for the past few days. The only hand which is read in this town to any extent is either a "flush" or "three of a kind."

G. H. Harrison, mining engineer, of London, Eng., left Ottawa this week for Illecillewaet and Fish Creek, to inspect and report on some mining properties on behalf of an English syndicate.

It does not say very much for the interest evinced in the prosperity of this district when prospectors send their samples for assay to San Francisco, Vancouver, and other distant points. We have an assayer in Revelstoke and another at Golden—both men of ability and practical experience — who are thoroughly reliable and competent to give a true assay of any ores submitted to them.

The freight traffic on the Columbia River via Revelstoke is assuming large proportions. Consignments of sugar brought to Vancouver by the C. P. R. steamships from China, are being sent this way for Spokane Falls, Wash., besides other merchandise. Last week the Columbia took down over 150 tons of sugar for that city, and another large consignment is expected next week. The C. & K. Nav. Company is making every effort to keep the route open during the winter. By the time the railway to the head of the lake is opened it will find all the traffic it can carry waiting for it.

About two weeks ago, while prospecting on the north fork of the Lardeau creek, Mr. Thomas Horne discovered an immense ledge of gold-bearing quartz. Not having facilities for testing the quality of the ore, he made but one location, and brought away a portion for testing. He pulverized some of the rock, and was greatly astonished to find that it yielded over 600 colors to the pan in free gold. He says large quantities of the ledge have been disrupted and broken off from the main body by some convulsion of nature, and he believes there are quite a hundred thousand tons of the quartz lying around the surface ready for milling. As the snow is now on the claim no work can be done until next spring. The discoverer says the quartz is of a soft nature and easily crushed. He intends to erect a 10 stamp mill and work the mine next summer. The ledge is not far from the great Horne ledge, the discovery of which we reported two weeks ago. Should the quartz all turn out as rich as the small portion Mr. Horne tested, the new strike will be a veritable Eldorado, and the Lardeau will become the Mecca for gold seekers from all parts of the world.

From the Inland Sentinel.]

Frederick Fraser and Henry Noble Courier, of the town of Revelstoke, have been appointed Justices of the Peace for and in the West Kootenay electoral district.

A steamboat wharf is badly needed at Nakusp. It would be a great convenience to the traveling public, and would increase the business of the town.

The news from Nakusp is that J. F. Wardner is making things hum all along the line from the Freddie Lee to Nakusp. He has now somewhere in neighborhood of 100 pack animals engaged in carrying ore between Slocan Lake and Nakusp. Mr. Wardner is at Tacoma making arrangements with the smelter company there. Before leaving he engaged competent men to construct drums and other hoisting apparatus at the mines and appliances for conveying the ore to the trail below. He intends to carry on work right through the winter. It is not likely that the wagon road will go through this fall. I have this item on the most reliable authority. If this be true, Slocan and Nakusp, and Revelstoke, too, should make it uncomfortable for the Government candidate at the next election. There is a probability that the C.P.R. will make a sleigh road for winter use.

The Wife of a Pugilist.

"Do I like pugilism? My gracious, no! I think it's a perfectly horrible business! I would give anything to have my husband lead a quiet, settled life. But what is one to do? Mr. Corbett has gone into the business, and that is the end of it. It is perfectly awful to think of two men mauling and maiming each other until one or the other shall be, as they call it, 'knocked out.' I think it's a horrid, cruel thing!"

And Mrs. James J. Corbett, the famous pugilist's wife, gave her head a decided shake as she concluded. There was no attempt at affectation, and it was evident that she was sincere in her utterances of dislike against her husband's profession.

She is an interesting young woman, this petite wife of brawny Jim Corbett, and as pretty as she is interesting. A pronounced blond, looking not a day older than the twenty-three years she confesses to, with a wealth of yellow golden hair piled artistically on a queenly little head, large gray blue eyes, shaded by long, dark lashes, a fair complexion and a figure whose contour is perfection, it seemed pretty hard to imagine her a prize fighter's wife as she sat in the cozy parlor in a light blue bodice, with natty polka dot tie, plain navy blue skirt and tiny russet shoes setting off the comeliness of the young lady.

Corbett's marriage was rather romantic, in fact included what might be called an elopement. When the now famous fighter was one of San Francisco's amateur athletes he met his wife, a Miss Ollie Lake. Mr. Lake, Ollie's father, was a widower, who had come to California from Amsterdam, N. Y., in 1809, when the girl was still a baby in her mother's arms. Miss Lake was studying for a school teacher's position in the state normal school when young Jim met her. An affection sprang up between the young folks, but Corbett's parents would not sanction an engagement.

The sweethearts were perforce obliged to wait. In 1886 Jim traveled to Salt Lake City to fight Duncan McDonald. There Miss Lake joined him, and a justice of the peace made them one. A second ceremony was performed when the happy pair returned to San Francisco. A school teacher's certificate to the state Normal school awaited Miss Ollie Lake in San Francisco while she was being married in Salt Lake City.—New York World.

How a Fortune Was Started.

Talk of the cholera revived among some of the older New Yorkers the story of the laying of the foundation of a very substantial fortune through the visit of the scourge to this city in the thirties. Not long before the disease appeared a young man had come here from New England to see if he couldn't find a more promising road to wealth in this city than was offered in his native state. He had very little money, but he had plenty of grit, and although at first the latter did not appear to be a very successful substitute for the former, there came a time when nerve meant big financial returns to its possessor. The cholera gave this young man his opportunity.

As soon as the death list began to mount up there arose much difficulty in securing men to bury the victims. Hearse drivers caught the panic and refused to work, and the time soon came when any sort of suitable vehicle was in great demand for the sad service. Then the young man borrowed or hired a horse and wagon and made it his business to carry the dead to the grave. High prices were paid, and while the epidemic lasted he fairly coined money. When it was over he found himself possessed of a sum which gave him his start, and in a few years he was what he sought to be—a rich man.—New York Times.

The Force of Habit.

A business man of this city who has peculiar views concerning the amenities of language, sent for one of his clerks recently and said:

"Simpson, I am told you are in the habit of using a great many expletives in your conversation."

"Great Scott! sir, what are they?" asked Simpson in awestruck tones.

"There, I have the proof from your own lips, you see, and I desire a more correct form of speech from you in future."

"Holy Moses!" exclaimed Simpson excitedly, "we're not running a Y. M. C. A., are we, sir?"

"No," answered his employer, "but is there any necessity for employing such emphatic language in your daily conversation?"

"Great Cæsar! How can a man help—I beg your pardon, sir, I will set a watch on my lips—it's the force of habit, I know."

Mr. Simpson bowed himself out and his fellow clerks at once asked him if he had been called in by the boss to have his salary raised.

"Jumping Jerusalem! No," he said. Then he suddenly became mute and refused to say another word for the rest of the afternoon.—Detroit Free Press.

A Heat Generator.

An amateur electrician in Boston has discovered a new way of heating by electricity which, while it may not be practical, is certainly effective. He has a battery fan motor, which he operates by an incandescent current of 110 volts, taking up the extra current by introducing a thirty-two candle power lamp in series. His original intention was to create a cool breeze, but he found that the heat generated by the lamp was more than the fan could take care of. So now he hangs the lamp in front of the fan and obtains a strong current of hot air. He believes that it is possible to create artificial heat in this manner on a much larger scale.—Boston Herald.

Fishing in the Northwest.

Whoever passes along the main retail street of Seattle and happens to notice the counters in the principal fish store will be astonished. In the chromatic display of the captive creatures of the sea is the text for another chapter on future wealth for Washington. They have the salmon, though that catch is credited to Oregon and Alaska. There are in the northern waters cod banks thousands of miles in extent; halibut, codfish, rock cod, sole, sea bass, smelts, shrimps, herrings and oysters are all abundant. Apparently the fisheries outweigh those of the east as the timber belt excels that which once inclosed the great lakes.

Candor compels me to say that the Pacific fish, with one exception, are inferior to the same kinds of fish in the east, yet they are not wanting in fine qualities. The halibut of Washington and the north is, I believe, the finest sea fish for the table that is known in America. The tiny muddy oysters, the size of a dime or quarter, are the meanest product of that sea, but they find a ready sale and are admired. Since that is so, hope for all the rest should be rampant. Their crabs, on the contrary, are not mere samples; they are wholesale products, regular marine monsters, and all the better for that since they make good food.

The fishing that must in a few years fleck the waters of the Pacific with sails is scarcely begun. There is only a million invested in it, and only a million a year is produced by it.—Julian Ralph in Harper's.

Recognized Their Brother.

"I'm going to join the army, and will be gone three years." Thus wrote a young man to his dear old mother and sisters at home. The boy was under sentence to the state prison when he wrote the letter that he supposed would quiet all inquiry as to his whereabouts. He had been found guilty of forgery, and the judge in pronouncing sentence upon him gave him three years at hard labor in the Oregon penitentiary.

This was several months ago. One Sunday afternoon a couple of young ladies, sisters, new arrivals in Salem, visited the prison. They arrived too late to be admitted to the services, but were given seats in the waiting room. At the first sound from the choir they were interested, but as the music of the song filled the chapel and resounded throughout the corridors they recognized a familiar sound in a sweet toned voice that carried the air. They advanced nearer to the chapel, impelled by they knew not what, and glancing through the barred doors recognized among the singers, wearing the stripes, the absent brother who they believed was serving his country in the army.

The recognition was mutual. And it was pitiful. The shock was more than the delicate nerves of the young women could bear. But it is only one incident of the many. The prison is full of sad romances and expectations that are never realized.—Salem (Or.) Statesman.

Imitating Handwriting.

Mary E. Wilkins, the story writer who sometimes visits Brooklyn and whose latest biographer, Kate Upson Clark, is a Brooklyn woman, thinks it something remarkable that her handwriting varies a good deal and that it frequently resembles the handwriting of the person whose letter she is answering. Other New England women say that their handwriting is imitative in the same way. One might imagine that these women never had learned to write properly, but the fact is that freakiness of penmanship is so common that it is strange that any one should think it unusual. Almost any one who was brought up in a law office before the days of the typewriter, and who had to copy documents in several different hands, will have noticed the variation either in himself or in some of the other clerks.

The only persons not affected in this way, so far as the writer has observed, are those of stolid temperament, on whom surroundings make no impression. A man of this sort would translate Horace Greeley's historic scrawls, page after page, into a stolid, even, heavy and perfectly legible hand. But any young man impressionable enough to be affected by fine acting or pictures or music will find himself imitating half a dozen handwritings in a week.—Brooklyn Eagle.

YACHTING.

LORD DUNRAVEN'S CHALLENGE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—At a special meeting to-night the New York Yacht Club will consider the challenge for a yacht race for the America cup that was received a few days ago from the Earl of Dunraven. Two years ago the earl challenged unconditionally just the same as now for the America cup with the Valkyrie. At that time the conditions of his challenge called practically for the abrogation of the new deed of gift, and especially the withdrawal of the obnoxious dimension clause. This the yacht club would not agree to and the challenge fell through. In yachting circles it is regarded as doubtful whether anything more satisfactory will come of the present challenge. Commodore Edwin D. Morgan says he has not made up his mind whether he will build a boat to defend the trophy, while J. Malcolm Forbes says while he is pleased to hear of the challenge he is not prepared to say anything at present as to whether he can furnish a yacht to compete.

THE RING.

HALL ACCEPTS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Jim Hall tells Richard K. Fox that he will fight Bob Fitzsimmons for the purse offered by the Olympic Club of New Orleans. Fox has notified President Charles Noel.

CORBETT AND JACKSON.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The National Club, of London, has offered a purse of $20,000 for champion Corbett to meet Peter Jackson in its arena in London. The club will guarantee Jackson all the backing he needs; that is, if Corbett insists upon $10,000 a side. But the club will furnish Jackson's money. The clubs states that the match may take place at any time satisfactory to competitions, but the end of next spring is preferable. Corbett is going abroad next summer, but it is hardly likely that he will agree to box for a purse of $20,000. The Coney Island Club will undoubtedly offer a larger purse. Jackson will soon be in America and the match may be discussed.

PEDESTRIANISM.

SIX DAYS WALKING MATCH.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Precisely at midnight last night the great six days walking match was started in the 2nd Regiment Armory, world's champion J. J. Corbett giving the word to go. Among the participants are George Cartwright, the Englishman whose 50 mile record remains untouched, Gus Guererro, the Spaniard, holder of the world's 72 hour record, Harry J. Stevens, champion of the west; Pete Hegelman, who has a record of 25 miles in 2 hours 41 min.; Charles W. Ashinger, winner of the six days international bicycle race in this city last winter; Cowboy Smith, old sport Campana and several lesser pedestrian lights.

An Unwelcome Gift.

The constantly growing list of curious bequests has received an addition from Ireland. A lady named Ellen Blair has left the bulk of her estate, amounting to the not very munificent sum of £753 14s. 6d., toward the building of a church for the Protestants of the Church of Ireland "in one of the most benighted, impoverished and ignorant districts in Ireland." Left to choose a district fulfilling all these qualifications, it is not surprising that the executors under the will have renounced probate. More bold than the executors, however, the Commissioners for Charitable Donations and Bequests for Ireland have obtained letters of administration, and a case has been referred to the vice-chancellor's chambers to settle a scheme for the application of the bequest. Happily, a corporation has no soul to be saved or body to be kicked. No private individual could dump down a church which would proclaim the neighborhood to be "the most benighted, impoverished and ignorant."—Pall Mall Budget.
